Golfers from page 1C

Junior Derek Fox and seniors Pat Hickey and Jeff Thomas have the most variety experience, and Miner said senior Nick Katcherian has made great strides in his game.

Fox had the best average among the three, shooting just over 41 per nine holes, and he carded a 39 in his only practice round thus far.

Hickey and Katcherian appear to vastly improved. Both have dropped their averages from 45 strokes to 37 1/2.

Junior Tim Fluter played in two variety matches and should push for more playing time this year since he has lowered his average five strokes to 42.

"He works at San Marino with Nick, and both get a lot of time on the golf course," Miner said. "Both are very serious about the golf games; they're golf junkies."

Sophomores Chris Katcherian, John Knight and Jeremy Allor are up-and-coming players.

Katcherian "has a marvelous swing, and we look for good things out of him in the future," Miner said.

Allor has reduced his average score to the low 40s, also, and Knight is a first-year golfer with a "nice swing" and equally low average.

"It looks like a lot of the fellas put some time in over the summer and got a little stronger and wiser," Miner said.

"But it's a real young team at this time of year, and who knows what's going to happen in the next two weeks?"

So he certainly isn't making any predictions about the overall season.

"At this time, we're stronger than I anticipated after losing so many seniors," Miner said. "We're better off than I thought we would be, but there's no test like putting them in a competitive match."

Farmington Harrison

The Hawks will have a more balanced lineup this year as opposed to relying on a couple key players, according to coach Bill Spencer.

The graduation losses include Kevin Horton, a state qualifier as a junior, and Kris Jovan, who just missed qualifying for state last year.

Jeff Moscow and Jared Taketa also have graduated after helping Harrison post a 3-3 record in Western Division duals and 7-4 mark against all Western Lakes opponents.

The Hawks return junior Joe Boxman and seniors Adam Tandon, John Sennett, Muhammad Sulejman and Dave Bosak.

But the best player could prove to be freshman Brian Grohman.

He has the lowest average (38 1/2) on the team currently and could compensate for the loss of Horton, according to Spencer.

"He's been tournament tested, but we'll see if he can maintain it," he added.

The coach also likes what he saw from the returning players in two practice rounds.

Tandon and Bosak have dropped their averages several strokes apiece to 39 and 40, respectively. The other four have made more modest gains.

Boxman is the most experienced player, having earned 20 match points (one per nine-hole round). Sulejman had 17, Tandon nine, Sennett six and Bosak five.

Senior Steve Vogel, junior Chad Hines and sophomore Chris Scott also return, but none played in more than two varsity matches.

Hines, who missed most of the season because of a broken ankle, averaged 53 in a limited role but is shooting 39 this year.

"I expected him to be better," Spencer said, "but I didn't know he was going to shoot 39."

Scott and Vogel have showed improvement, and Spencer hopes they will get better as the season goes on.

"Last year we had a couple of superstars," Spencer said. "This year we can go seven deep for the first time in a lot of years."

"I have seven who average under 42, but I don't have as yet what you would classify as a superstar. If they keep shooting like that, we're going to be in good shape."

"When you put them on a tough course and go 18 holes, things change. We'll get a good indication Monday and Wednesday. By the time school starts, we'll all know where we stand."

Livonia Churchill shot 408 to win the Western Lakes championship with Plymouth Salem (421), Northville (435) and Westland John Glenn (443) following.
