Music students 'play' up to national, state judges

Three piano students of Catherine Rollin of Bloomfield Hills recently won national and statewide awards for their achievements.

Ryan Lavery, a 10-year-old from Farmington Hills, was recently awarded the national first place in composition from the National Federation of Music Clubs. His piece, "The Flight of the Monarch," was first honored with a statewide and regional first place before it went on to receive the national prize for Division II.

Ryan has been composing for several years and has also won numerous honors for his piano playing. He is the son of Donna and Bill Lavery and recently completed the fifth grade at High Meadow Elementary.

Allegra Lilly, 11, from Bloomfield Hills, is the 1996 winner of the Michigan Music Teachers Association State Finals in the intermediate division. As a result of winning this award, Allegra has performed at the awards recital at Michigan State University, and at a honors recital sponsored by the Steinway Society of Michigan.

She has also been invited to perform at the state convention of the Michigan Music Teachers Association.

PIANISTS

ation this fall in Ann Arbor. She won the first place award in division II from the Detroit Musicians League.

An accomplished harpist, Allegra was a winner at the Kalamazoo Bach Festival. She recently completed fifth grade at Way Middle School and is the daughter of Betsy and Gerald Lilly.

Christine Chun is the 1996 first place winner of the $1,000 Bernice Van Husan Scholarship. This scholarship is intended for a student who is planning on going to music school. Christine is entering the University of Michigan School of Music this fall. Christine graduated from Andover High School where she was that school's Traub Scholarship winner for music.

This year she was the recipient of the first place scholarship in high school from the Birmingham Musicale and the Tuesday Musicale. She was also honored with a scholarship from the Music Study Club of Metropolitan Detroit. Christine is the daughter of Won Kyung and Chang Nam Chun of Bloomfield Hills.
