The Great Car Afford to Be Simple.
 It takes a very great personage indeed to carry the principle of being unostentatious into modern motorcars, says the Gentlewoman of London. The almost universal idea nowadays seems to provide gorgeous flowers, the drier cut in music, and any amount of excellent viands as a bribe to smart young men and women of fashion; it hardly they be kind enough to come and dine or dance.
 "Yet even in society there are yet one or two houses where a simple buffet supper is thought to be all sufficient, and I know of one ducal house where plates of biscuits and sandwiches, with lemonade and claret cup are considered ample recompense for the very distinguished guests, who are from time to time invited to evening parties in the particular mansion."

Several Things and an Architect.
 "Seeing is believing," said an oculist. "Well, no saw was ever more about than that. You see a horse's head and a four barrel, and you believe the barrel is longer than the horse's head, don't you? Well, it isn't. The horse's head from the tip of his ears to the end of his nose is longer than the barrel by a considerable distance."
 "Architects have to deceive—to lie—to the eye in order to make their buildings look symmetrical. They make walls lean toward that they may appear vertical. They make windows wider at the top. They make columns thicker in the middle than at the summit or the base. And the top of a building, in order to appear plumb to the silly eye of man, must be raised up quite a lot in the center."

Untainted.
 Tempted by an offer of considerably more than the property has cost him, Mr. Krezos counted his wealth in millions, had parted with his suburban villa.
 "You didn't need the money," said his disgusted business partner, who had just heard of the transaction, "yet for a little filthy lucre you sold that beautiful home!"
 "I didn't!" exclaimed the equally indignant Mr. Krezos. "I sold it for clean cash!"—Youth's Companion.

EASTERN MICHIGAN PRESS CLUB SPENT
SEVERAL DAYS ON COOL AND BEAUTIFUL ISLAND RESORT—BACK AT WORK AGAIN.

By A. E. GORDON.

"Goodbye," "Best trip we ever had," "Rah for the Eastern Michigan Press Club," "It was the partying of the 100 or more members of the Eastern Michigan Press Club on the D. & C. dock in Detroit, Tuesday morning, after the happy crowd had left the big steamer City of Mackinac, all the better able to attend to their editorial duties all over the state by reason of their brief vacation on cool Mackinac Island and on the luxurious boats of the D. & C. Navigation Co.
 The trip was begun Friday morning, June 23, when the editors and their wives and children gathered at the steamship City of Alpena. The commuters of Alpena and the City of Mackinac were two of the most seaworthy and beautifully appointed boats on the Great Lakes. They are both so large that there was no crowding, and all who cared for outside staterooms had them. The officers and employees on the boat were the personification of courtesy in every respect, having done everything possible to anticipate the wants of the E. M. P. C. members. The meals were excellent, the service of the best and the cost of staterooms, etc., very reasonable.
 Storm on Thunder Bay.
 President B. F. Browne, postmaster of Harbor Beach and editor of the Harbor Beach Times, accompanied by his wife, Grace, and the Greenwoods, editor of the Lady Macabee, and a number of the members of the Michigan Press Association, who also belong to the E. M. P. C., boarded the steamer at Port Huron and the start through Lake Huron was made. As the boat approached Harbor Beach, however, a storm had broken, which blew up white-caps all over the lake and a few of the more timid souls were quite well pleased to have the ship sheltered behind the great breakwater at this town for an hour or so until the great volume of freight was shifted into the warehouses on the dock. This done the boat pointed her nose out into the lake again and the passage across Thunder Bay was begun.
 Here the steamer was at its height and great waves beat against the sides of the ship. The seaworthiness of the ship was so obvious, however, that not a tremor of apprehension was felt by any one and everybody was soon fast asleep in the cool staterooms. The clock darkened at the dock on Mackinac Island right on scheduled time.
 President Browne had already made a handsome silk umbrella, furnished by the club. In the entertainment which followed the following participated: Mrs. M. C. Chase, A. D. Gallery, Miss May Muriel Brennan, Mrs. Grace Greenwood Browne, Miss Alice M. Terry, G. W. Welsh and Homer Harwood.
 In addition to those whose names appear above the E. M. P. C. is indebted to Capt. Lightbody and Haywood of the D. & C.; Supt. Frank A. Keyson, of Mackinac Park and M. J. Mortenson, of Hessel, for courtesies extended to the club. Supt. Keyson has done much to add to the charm of the island. Here is the list of the editors in addition to those whose names have been mentioned: Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Rogers, Camden Advance; W. L. Chapple, Alpena Review; Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Leland, Cass City Chronicle; Mr. and Mrs. W. Stephenson, Addison Courier; Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Riddle, American Press Association; Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Wilkinson, Detroit Trade; Mrs. F. E. Ellsworth; R. H. Rose, Royal Oak Tribune; E. H. Congdon and Mrs. A. B. Clapp, and daughter, Oxford Leader; Mrs. McLaren and Mrs. G. W. Paton, Almont Herald; Mrs. G. W. Welsh and Miss Oneta Hodges, Fruit Belt; S. B. Jacobs and daughter, Brighton Argus; Mrs. A. D. Gallery, Miss Edith Mead and Miss Laura Dunlap, Carp River; Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Abres, Moreau Observer; Miss Taylor and Miss Mitchell, Birmingham Eclectic; Miss Morgan, Owosso Argus; Mr. and Mrs. E. Van Block and Mr. and Mrs. R. Elmer Clark, West Side Press, Springport; H. G. Mueller, wife and son, Sebewaing Blade; E. C. Shiley, Detroit Signal; Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Howse, Brown City Banner; Miss Lawson, Hillsdale Democrat; Mrs. C. C. Cranston and daughter, LaPeere; Mrs. E. L. Riggs, Plymouth; Miss Margaret Waltz, Calumet; Mrs. Prueella Julet Sherman, Mrs. C. E. Brede, Mrs. A. E. Gordon, Detroit; Miss Ackerman, Cass City; Mr. and Mrs. B. G. Munch, Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Monroe, South Haven Daily Tribune; and Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Russell and daughter, of the Bangor Advance.

The Return.
 Right on the dot of 8:00 a. m. Monday the tourists reluctantly said goodbye from the decks of the beautiful steamer City of Mackinac to the receding shores of the island. The trip on the City of Mackinac was even more pleasant than on the City of Alpena because it was taken in daytime and with the accompaniment of alternating fog and sunshine, with the soft tones of fog bells on the various lightships and lighthouses, mingled with the deep bass fog whistle of the steamer Steward Frank C. Davis was especially courteous in arranging for the welfare of the party. In the evening a mock trial was held in the after cabin. Editor Homer Harwood, of the Warren Watchman, being the persecuted defendant; G. W. Welsh, of the Fruit Belt, Grand Rapids, the prosecutor; A. W. Wilkinson, of the Chelsea Standard, attorney for the defense; L. C. Cranston, clerk; Fred B. Carr, of the Dundee Reporter, sheriff; C. J. Kirby, of the Record-Commercial, deputy sheriff; and the writer as judge. In the midst of the trial, which was very funny, the judge ordered the arrest of President Browne and Secretary Cranston, and after finding them guilty of contempt of court, sentenced them to carry handsome silk umbrellas, furnished by the club. In the entertainment which followed the following participated: Mrs. M. C. Chase, A. D. Gallery, Miss May Muriel Brennan, Mrs. Grace Greenwood Browne, Miss Alice M. Terry, G. W. Welsh and Homer Harwood.
