trainer, which is fine because as a trainer I consider myself an extension of the team."

Broz came to CC from Med-High shortly after the start of the football season. That's when Coratti, a defensive coordinator with the CC football team, met him.

Imagine the kind of defensive end he'd make.

"We've always had outstanding trainers," said Coratti, noting that the tradition started after he gave up training on a part-time basis, "but having David is just like having another coach. He knows his training stuff, is great with the kids and so insightful."

Mulroy couldn't stop thinking of basketball when he first saw Broz at a football game.

"I showed up one day for the DePorres game and here's this big racial blocking out the sun," Mulroy said. "I asked somebody 'Who's that assistant coach?' Somebody said 'That's the trainer.'"

Every other player in the CC program needs a step ladder to cover Young; so, at 6-10, Mulroy said Broz was going to suit up at practice even if he couldn't walk and chew gum at the same time.

He is far from that. The son of a coach from Westchester, Ill., Broz started four seasons at BSU from 1990-94. He was a member of the Mid-American Conference all-freshman team and an academic All-America honorable mention selection before his career ended. The Cardinals reached both the NCAA Tournament and the National Invitational Tournament in Broz's four years.

Broz played at Proviso East High School. East's big rival was West, which incredibly had current NBA player Michael Jordan. Broz played with Jordan and Donnie Boyce in its lineup during Broz's playing days.

"Even if he had never seen a basketball, he was going in there to bang Chris Young," Mulroy said. "He's a coach's son, who really is steep in his knowledge of basketball. He can see things that really are pretty specific, not like 'Ooops, that's real bad' or 'Hey, that's real good.'"

Injuries actually led to Broz changing his major from communications to sports medicine as a sophomore at BSU. Broz suffered two dislocated shoulders and underwent one knee surgery at BSU, helping him get to know the trainers pretty well.

Before long he was taking classes with them. He took his current job after finishing a two-year commitment at BSU in the training field.

"I'm in it for the kids," Broz said. "I love it here. This is a great group of guys and coaches here at CC, and I'm really enjoying my time."

to 10-0 as they enter a tough week, featuring a game Thursday at Grosse Pointe North and Saturday at home against defending Class A champion Trenton.

"At the start of the season, we knew we'd have a pretty good team," Bratcher said. "We want to go all the way and do it undefeated. We'll find out how good we are against Trenton."

Lewarne scored two goals and had one assist for the Shamrocks, who led 4-0 after two periods. Karabalski, Nick Kalenicki and Tony Keshian scored one goal each.

Matt Van Heest led with three assists, while Porter, Scott Curtin, Pat O'Dea, Keith Rowe and Jim Melton assisted on one apiece.

Stevenson's Darin Fawkes broke Marnon's shutout bid with a short-handed goal, assisted by Billy Marshall and Andy Domzalaki, 37 seconds into the third period. The Shamrocks regained a four-goal lead with Lewarne's goal less than two minutes later.

The Spartans cut the deficit to 5-2 at 5:59 of the third period when David Nannas scored, assisted by Fawkes and Jason Ward, but that's as close as it got.

Stevenson, which lost to CC 5-3 earlier this season at Eddie Edgar Arena, fell to 7-3-1. The Spartans had 21 shots on goal.

"They beat us in every phase of the game and came ready to play," Stevenson coach Mike Harris said. "We had great goaltending or it could have been worse. The kids never quit. I wish CC well."

After a relatively clean first two periods, the penalty box was crowded in the third period. The Shamrocks, who had six players in there at one time, were called for 12 minor penalties to Stevenson's seven. Each team had one 10-minute misconduct penalty in the third period.

"It wasn't that close and when it isn't that close you find guys chopping at each other a bit," St. John said. "Both teams showed a lack of discipline. We'll deal with ours, and I'm sure Mike will deal with his. This is a big rivalry. Our game is banging people around and not letting them like getting banged around."

REDFORD CC 8, A.A. HURON 0: Eric Bratcher and Scott Curtin scored two goals each Friday, leading the Catholic Central to a victory over visiting Ann Arbor Huron.

Jon Devlin, Greg Berger, Dan McLellan and Nick Kalenicki added one goal apiece for the Shamrocks, who improved to 6-0 in the Michigan Metro. Bratcher, Mike Sharpe, Mike Porter and Jason Terrell had two assists each.

Rick Marnon played two periods, not followed by Jordan Braciszewski. The Shamrocks outshot Huron, 51-5.
