----Boorstein elected VP

Daniel J.
Boorstein has been elected vice president of the Farbman Group, a full-service commercial real estate company with offices in Southfield and Detroit.
Since inings

Daniel J. Boorstein

etroit. Since joining the firm three years ago, Boorstein has concentrated on marketing ar developing the $50 million Metro World Centre near metro airport. He lives in Birmingham.

Jamey Kramer, a Novi esident and a Realtor with RE/MAX 100 in that community, has carned his associate broker license. He was the

Jamey Kramer

Jamey Kramer

Kramer holds the professional designations of Graduate Realtors Institute and Certified Residential Spe-

Agosta named chairman

Russell F. Agosta, partner with the with the accounting firm of Grant Thornton in Southfield, is the new chairman of the Construction Association of Michigan.

Russoll F. Agosta

CAM names officers

The Construction Association of Michigan, a trade association of contractors, subcontractors and suppliers headquartered in Bloomfield Hills, welcomes several other officers and new directors.

welcomes several other officers and new directors. Paul Forte of Bloomfield Hills, president of Class Block Sales, and Rick Owen, vice president of Edrick M. Owen in Rochester Hills, are co-vice chairmen. James D. Vogols-berg, president of American Glass & Metals in Plymouth, is treasurer. New directors are Don Brann of Don Brann Associates, Oak Park; Thomas Landry of A.J. Elkin Con-struction, Southfield; and Ron Urbanczyk of Huron Acoustic Tile, Mt. Clemens.

Classified

| CLASSIFICATION | NUMBER |
|---------------------------|-----------|
| ≅ Autos | (800 894) |
| 15 Employmeni | (500-524) |
| ₩ Help Wanted | (500/524) |
| ## Home and Service Guide | (1-259) |
| # Merchandise for Sale | (700-744) |
| 🖪 Rús! Estate | (200-372) |
| 21 Rentals | (400-43C) |

Farmington Observer

Mortgage shopping, Page 16 • Homes Sold, Page 16

THURSDAY, JANUARY 23, 1997 . PAGE 1 SECTION H

Make buying experience easy

Shopping for a house should be as simple as one, two, three, Realtors with a professional who can focus your search. Determine how much house you can afford and get pre-approved for a mortgage. Be available to view a house at a moment's notice and be ready to make confirm.

available to view a nouse at a moments notice and be ready to make an offer. Good advice whether you're a first-time buyer or looking for a change after setting down some roots.

It's O.K. to get a feel for the territory by visiting open houses. But knowledge and experience are hard to beat. When you're actually ready to make a move, go to an expert, the experts ags.

experts say. "I think what they need to do is find make a move, go to an expert, the experts say.

"I hink what they need to do is find a Realtor out there willing to work with them," said Marty Clerebout, a Realtor with Real Estate One in Farmington. "The Realtor should be doing 30 percent of the work.

That includes helping clients differentiate between wants and needs. It includes using the computer to scout out realistic buying possibilities and set up showings. It includes pointing buyers in the direction of reputable lenders, inspectors and other ancillary service providers.

There are too many pitfalls out there," said Bob Renfrew, a Realtor with Wolverine Properties in Redford. "If you want a professional job, go to a professional. I'm a firm believer in stall time, he said. "You need a fulltime asont. There's a lack of houses for said." Story day you'need to check what's a valiable. I check updates three times day."

Be sure that you clearly understand the agency relationship between different Realtors and you in the process. Typically, sellers pay sales commissions.

To avoid spinning your wheels or hitting off more than you can purchase early in the process.

The biggest thing I suggest buyers do ... is know what they can afford before they start looking." Renfrew said. "Hunting for a house is time consuming. You need to have financial ducks in order before looking." The 28036 debt-to-income limit still applies.

That is, the principle, interest, taxes and insurance on a mortgage should.

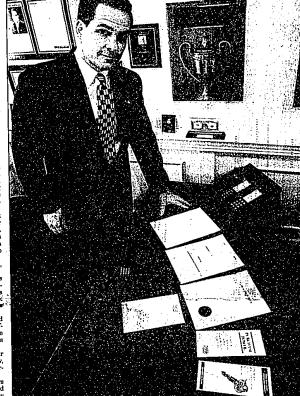

applies.
That is, the principle, interest, taxes and insurance on a mortgage shouldn't exceed 28 percent of monthly gross income. All debt, including mortgage, car payment and college loans, shouldn't exceed 36 percent of gross income.

The a guideline, not a rule, anid Daniel Smith, vice president and Plymouth branch manager with Republic Bancorp Mortgage.

Banks, savings and leans and mortgage companies can pre-approve or pre-quality for leans. Smith explains the difference.

pre-qualify for loans. Smith explains the difference. "A pre-qualification typically is a loan officer's opinion based on a ver-bal interview with a potential cusa vice presi- ; dent with dent with Republic Ban-corp Mortgage, exhibits some of the forms needed to obtain a mortgage pre-approval and expedite the house-buying process.

tomer with no documentation. It's subject to complete verification and tomer with no documentation. It's subject to complete verification and isn't worth the paper it's printed on.

"A pre-approval is a written commitment to give forth a mortgage, period," Smith said. "We would get copies of the W2 (annual wage statement) for the last two years, copies of two recent pay stubs, two months of bank statements. We would pull a full-fledge credit report."

The only conditions for final approval would attach to the house, itself - appraisal, survey and title work.

work.
Cost for pro-approval ranges up to a couple hundred dollars, Smith said, with Republic charging $50.
"A pre-approval really shows customers are serious," Smith said. "Most Realitor's won't waste a thimble of gas on clients without one."

Glenda Lagrois, an associate broker with Century 21 Town & Country, knows the importance of pre-approvals.

knows the importance of pre-approvals.

What happens in a tight real estate market, I've seen buyers loss a house because they were only pre-qualified, she said. 'Sellers wont with a lower offer with a pre-approval contract because they felt it was more stable.'

Stable."

Buyors can't afford to dawdle if they're serious about acquiring a house, especially during this time of year when comparatively fewer houses are available for sale.

"Be ready to look at something even if it's inconvenient," Clerebout said. "It's kind of first come, first served. You have to be ready to jump on them."

them."
"Try to be as available as possible,"

said Michelle Michael, associate broker with RE/MAX Executive Properties in Farmington Hills. "You need to act quickly.

"A real estate person can go over quickly.

"A real estate person can go over forms before you need to use them so you feel comfortable," he said. "You can write in a time frame for an attorneys a proval, a time frame for an inspection (in the purchase offer).

"I have this strong theory that when you buy a house, it's really 70 persont emotional and 30 percent mancial," Michael said.

"When you feel emotionally strong, that's the one you should act on. It truly is something from the heart. There's ne rule of thumb. It could be the first one you look at or the 100th."

City can't ban all signs from residential yards

A. Probably not, based upon a recent decision in the Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals, which includes Michigan, As you may recall, the Supreme Court struck down a 'total ban' on residential signs in 1994. In a recent case out of Ohio, a city passed a ban on yard signs, including tiollered. It said that window signs are less effective than yard signs and that yard signs are an unusuity cheap and convenient form of communication and the city's ordinance was "more than necessary" because it completely forcelosed an inexpensive and autonomous way to communicate. Therefore, the court struck down the ban that had been challenged by a group of Realtors.

Q. I am an accountant who is being called upon more frequently to review financial state-ments of condominium associations for inte-sted purchasers. Do you have any tips as to

Q. Our city is thinking about placing a ban on yard signs, including for sale signs. Is this possible based upon a recent Supreme Court case?

what I should be focusing my attention on.
A. At a minimum, if you, as a CPA, are called to review the financial statement of an associated to a buyer buying a condominium uncertainty of the condominium of the co

what I should be focusing my attention on.

A At a minimum, if you, as a CPA, are called upon to review the financial statement of an association incident to a buyer buying a condominium unit, I suggest the following determine whether the association is carrying a deficit in any of its accounts and, if so, whether the deficit is being reduced by the entry of an expense line item in the current budget.

Determine whether there are any substantial had debt liabilities existing and determine whether there are any substantial bad debt liabilities existing and determine whether there are any substantial bad debt liabilities existing and determine whether there are any substantial bad debt liabilities existing and determine whether there are a significant number of owners are failing to meet the assessment obligation. Determine whether the capital reserves are being mnintained commensurate with the size of the amenities within a particular assessment of ligation. Determine whether the association.

You may also wish to examine, in conjunction with the attorney for the purchaser, the notes to the financial statement was prepared by an accountant in accordance with the common interest rule of the association (CIRA) guidelines, the financial statements should contain a note advising whether the association is collecting applial reserves in accordance with the capital reserve study prepared for the association of based upon the prejections contained in the initial reserve levels established by the developer.

If the note indicates that capital reserves are not being funded in accordance with the association for the subscriptions.

reserve study, the buyer must be aware of this fact because it indicates the likelihood but the association later will be unable to pay for the replacement of a capital item that is the association's responsibility. In that event, the association may seek to assess a special or additional assessment against unit owners to pay for the capital item that needs repair or replacement.

pay for the capital item that needs repair or replacement.

Obviously, the inadequacy of a capital reserve can decrease the value of a unit. More and more frequently, lenders are reviewing capital reserves to determine whether the project represents an acceptable risk. If a financial statement prepared by an accountant in accordance with CIRA guidelines is not available, the association's property manager should provide information about the association's practice concerning capital reserves. You should be working closely with the buyer's attorney, who is presumably knowledgeable in condominiums, to help you analyza these documents.

ly with this condominiums, to help you analyze these documents.

Robert M. Meisner is an Oakland County area attorney concentrating his practice in the areas of condominiums, real estate, corporate law and litigation. You are invited to submit topics that you would like to see discussed in this column, including questions about condominiums, by writing Robert M. Meisner, 20200 Telegraph Road, Suite 467, Bingham Farms M. 48025, This column provides general information and should not be construed as legal opinion.