MONTE NAGLER

Amateur photographers will often think about dabbling in architectural photography with its sophisticated view cameras, perspective control, etc., only to get cold feet and end up shooting the kids in the back yard again. But remember that you're not shooting for Architectural Digest and many exciting and refreshing pictures can be yours with the equipment you currently own. Keep a keen eye open for the numerous structures you encounter his sons and his show was syndicated across a wide area. You never know about the guy because he's always out there stirring the pot.

Last but not least and the most important - Thousands of homes are being built with laundry rooms located out of the basement. Upstairs, in the kitchen etc. and many people are complaining today about the vibration factor of a washer during the spin cycle. It's going to get worse folks, and the future will prove me correct on this one. Many service calls covered by warranty are being performed today with the result being nothing wrong. Some day you'll have manufacturers who will not cover your washer unless it is on a cement floor. You people out there who build homes on are having one built, think about it. A wood floor will only take so much of the repeated vibrations of a spin cycle before it begins to react. Stay tuned.

Joe Gagnon, the Appliance Doctor, will answer your questions about maintaining and repairing large appliances. Gagnon is president of Carmack Appliances in Garden City and does a weekly radio program on WJR-AM. He is author of "First Aid from the Appliance Doctor," available at area bookstores.
