MICHIGAN State Fair

Bigger and Better than Ever, but No Increase in Price.

$85,000.00 To be Awarded in Premiums and Purses

Five Days of Grand Circuit Horse Racing

tures obtainable. The cream of the J. Mippolymes, orthogost-cits, Big automobile show contain-tracks. This will be an especially inter-

or of Votor hall, iar $10,000 fireworks product

BE WISE AND ADVERTISE

Book on patents. "Hints to inventors." "Inventions needed."
"Why some inventors fail." Send rough sketch or model for search of Patent Office records. Our Mr. Greeley was formerly Acting Commissioner of Patents, and as such had full charge of the U. S. Patent Office.

By Claudine Sisson

In view of the fact that there are at least 52 fads in everyday use, Mr. Harry Tillman, a young man in his last year in college, could not be called eccentric for having one. Physical culture, as a whole, if from being a f.id, but a dozen fads can develop in the pursuit of it. Mr. Tillman didn't care to strengthen his arms, his shoulders or his chekt. He ran his training all to his legs. He wanted to be the didn't care for the money that might help the far and more didner and more about being robbed; also one about knowing your family. "Mercy, no!" "Clene a farnier calls me by telephone to arrest a tramp hanging about his barn. I do so, and I find him in a good suit of clothes, a hundred dollars in his pocket, and more clothes in a bundle. In the bundle or his chest. He ran his training all to his legs. He wanted to be the champion walker of the world. He didn't care for the money that might him in a good suit of clothes, a hundrange with the money that might him in a good suit of clothes, a hundrange him in the same was a few within many the money properties of the money that might him him a good suit of clothes, a hundrange with a clothes in a bundle. In the bundle when he wanted the honor. The man, but he wanted the honor. The man, but he wanted the honor. The man, but he wanted the wanted wanter two have cut a wisdom tooth. If a man has a fad he can always find a doctor to help along with it—bills to be presented quarterly. Mr. Tillman found one. He advised walking ten miles a day, no matter what the weather. After the young man had become accustomed to the ten-mile business he was advised to go on a straight-aivay tramp of long distance and make his steady 16 miles a day. It would be well for him to go up hill and down hill same has been kneed to go on a straight-aivay tramp of long distance and make his steady 16 miles a day. It would be well for him to go up hill and down hill same has some and make his steady 16 miles a day. It would be well for him to go up hill and down hill same has some him to go up hill and down hill same has some him to go up hill and down hill same has some him to go up hill and down-hill business will give him, the right kind of wobble to his knees.

The doctor and the ambitious round man drew a straight line kind of wobble to his knees.

The dector and the ambitious young man drew a straight line across the hills and mountains of a New England siste. It begun at the Tillman estate and ended 160 miles away. Mr. Tillman, Mrs. Tillman and their daughter Nettle looked the route over. Mr. Tillman said that Harry was a fool; Mrs. Tillman said she wished bed take a taxi instead of walking, and Miss Nettie gushed forth with:
"Why you are going right through

Nettie gushed forth with:
"Why you are going right through
Sanford, and that's where my chum, Bossie Erlanger, lives. She's the sweetest errer. She'll be sw'ally glad to see a brother of mine. I'll give you a little not to her, and you'll fall in love at once. I'd give any thing if she were my sister-in-law."
Harry promised to stop for a few hours at least. He thought a lot of his sister and he would do it to oblige her.

oblige her.
The man with the walking fad is an object of curiosity to the farmiers. They invited young Mr. Tillman to do his walking behind plow or drag; they invited him to saw wood to help his back; they offered to let their bulls run him across the mon-sense proposition. Mr. Tillman stuck. Every step jarred him after the fourth day, but every step brought him so much nearer the world's championship. In body, particularly in his legs, he was a weary young man as he drew near Sanford, but in spirit he was as determined as Napoleon.

The day was hot, and a little lake half-hidden from the highway bockoned the walkist to a rest and s bath. He was cajoled. At the und of half an hour he emerged from the water to find that some one had removed his knapsack and suit of clothing. Not a trace of a garment remained. At tramp had come along and noticed the good thing and helped himself to it. The only thing for the young man to do was to walk back for half a mile to where he had noticed a farmer in a field and beg for some garments. Before he could get a ragged old hickory shirt and a pair of patched trousers he had to give his name and all that and promise to pay, for them within 30 days.

No calling on the Erlanger's now

No calling on the Erlanger's now No clothes—no cash—no little note to Miss Bessie! He must strike for to Miss Bessel 1 fe must write 100 the mearest dwn and telegraph home for funds. He entered the village of Sanford to have the heavy hand of a constable laid on himin as a professional tramp and to be landed in fail. He made explanations, but the

Fifteen Miles

A Day

By Claudine Sisson

By Claudine Sisson

By Claudine Sisson

By Claudine Sisson

Tries they give him. Five days was what he would have got had he kept still; ten days was what he kept still; ten days was what he kept still; ten days was what he could do that stunt of 15 miles a day in the jail corridor.

Miss Bessie Erlanger sat in a rocker on the veranda reading a hook when a man-drore up in a buggy and came along up the path with a bundle under his arm. When he had introduced himself as Constable Swan he said: more a tramp explains the longer

Swan he said:

Helped Himself to It.

and leave it. Why hadn't be called? Where was he? How came his effects in possession of the tramp? "Mighty queer," said the constable as he shook his head. "Some mighty queer things in this detective business." "And there are some fool con-in this detective business."

"And there are some fool constables meddling with, them!" exclaimed the girl, as she sprang to her feet and made a dive into the house for her hat. "Now, then, I'm going to town with you. Gallop your old horse all the way. Drive straight to the jail. At the very least you will be such for $50,000 diamages."

"My soul, but what have I done huit arrest two tramps!"

But she blushed and wouldn't ans

DUE TO ENVIRONMENT.

"Pa, what is home-grown philoso-phy?"
"Home-grown philosophy, my son, is the kind that develops in a man who is married to a strong h

The SUREST

TO MAKE MONEY IS IN REAL ESTATE INVESTMENTS IN A GROWING SECTION OF COUNTRY

Those Who Believe that Detroit Has Stopped Growing and that the Suburban Towns Have Reached their. Limits Should Keep Their Money in Their Pockets. There Are Others

THE MAN WHO WANTS TO SELL SHOULD GET BUSY

Investors Are Coming Out Grand River Avenue and Property that is Listed at a Fair Valuation Can be had

The time to sell is when somebody wants to buy and the time to buy is when somebody wants to sell. It's our business to seek out these people and get them together. Those who have property to dispose of should list it with us for we have more buyers than sellers and can find customers for all property that is offered at a fair price.

Goods farms anywhere and acre property along the car lines are in demand. We have buyers for both.

We also have a customer who wants a house and lot in Redford. A good home with shade and shrubbery. Who has one for sale?

A man wants a farm, andwhere from 30 to 80 acres, at a medium price. Who can fit him out and get his money?

A man in Ohio wants a good farm of 80 or more acres either in Northern Wayne or Oakland County. Must be a good one and with good improvements. He has some meney. Who can get his coin?

A FEW REAL BARGAINS,

A FIN LITTLE BRICK HOUS -Located on a good street in the village of Redford. Can be bought for $1600 on easy terms.

40 Acues -One of the finest little farms in the country, with good buildings and plenty of them. Only a mile and a half from Redford, one of the best suburban towns around Detroit. Good soil and land lays level. Small apple orchard. Seven room house, cellar, cistern, and good well. Summer kitchen, frame barns 30x56 and 16x40 with a shed 12x16. No left at home but the old tolks and they want To move to the city.

Will sell for $4500 and buildings are insured for half of that amount. Would trade for a two-family flat or sell for a fair payment down.

$1400--For a frame house in Redford located half a block, off the car line. Easy payments.

Darry Farm--60 acres, with 15 acres finest pasture lan and running water. Three miles from Farmington and one mile from electric car line. Brick house with cement'cellar. Fine oak grove. Age compels a sale and it can be had for $4,000.

Brick House-With all modern conveniences, including basement with furnace, electric lights, water, etc. Fine lot with heautiful maple shade trees and in the most desirable location in Redford. $2,500 is the price.

BRICK STORE--Chance for some one with a little money to invest. Will pay a big interest on the money invested.*

SMALL STORE-In good, growing town near Detroit, suitacle for any line of goods as the location is good. Less than it's value.

THREE NEW HOUSES-Built to be sold at actual cost and being desirably located are decided bargains. Two lots go with each. Ask about these if looking for a fine home.

VACANT LOTS-Can be bought for a very small down payment and the easiest kind of terms. Pick your lot and don't be at all bashful about asking for easy payments. Before you get it paid for you can sell for 50 per cent profit.

ONE STORY BRICK STORE-Redford's best location. Owner is building larger and will sell this for less than it is worth if sold soon. Large enough for any purpose.

Two Acres-Within the limits of Redford Village. Owner cannot use it and offers it at a bargain. Fine for chickens and

THREE LOTS-Fine place for a home with large garden or for . raising fruit or poultry. $500, on easy payments

Two Business Lors-On Grand River Avenue in Redford and the best location that is offered for sale. Can be bought at a speculation price if taken while owner is in the selling mood.

Many Other Bargains Offered in Village and Farming Property in Wayne and Oakland Counties. Ask for what you want.

RAMSEY REALTY CO.

Office at both Redford and Farmington