

Mom Likes Me Best.

Chevy Venture was just ranked

Most Appealing Minivan by J.D. Power and Associates in the 1997 APEAL study.

Nah-nah-nah-nah-nah. Mom loves us. Dad loves us. Heck, everybody loves us.

We don't mean to brag, but even before our first birthday, Chevy Venture tied as "America's Most Appealing Minivan." But what makes this award special is that the awardee wasn't determined by anonymous automotive journalists or stuffy auto show types. This award is based on the responses of actual Venture owners — moms, dads, just real people across America who recognize a great minivan when they see one. We just want to say thanks and let you know we'll keep up the good work. Hey, you gotta keep the judges happy.
