Volleyball

Franklin coach Ann Hutchins said.

Young opened the second game with three aces as Ladywood jumped to a 7-0 lead. Deanna LaBute later entered the game and served for six points.

"I thought the turning point was when Jenny served for the win in the first game with the jump serve," Teeters said. "That's a lot of pressure to serve in a close game for the win with a jump serve. That carried us in the second game as Jenny's serving gave us the lead."

"We worked so hard physically and mentally in the first game that I figured we might have a letdown in the second game," Hutchins said. "But that game took nothing away from how we played today."

Ladywood received six kills and 10 assists from Sarah Poglitz. The senior also collected four digs, including one in the first game that prevented Franklin from taking a 14-13 lead. Katie Brogan added five assists and five digs.

Franklin ended the season 26-16-7, but Hutchins was happy with the effort.

"I can't begin to express my feelings," the Franklin coach said. "The girls worked extremely hard tonight. They played with a lot of heart and desire."

"We started playing better as a team after we beat Northville to win the division and continued playing well in the league tournament. That carried over into tonight. The team had a lot of confidence."

The Patriots advanced to the finals with a somewhat surprising 17-15, 4-15, 16-12 victory over rival Livonia Stevenson.

In the first game, Franklin rallied from a 13-4 deficit and eventually won on a spike from junior Nicole Boyd.

The Spartans came back to take the second game as sophomore Kate LeBlanc had four kills to back the serving of Stephanie Dule (two aces).

Dule kept the Spartans hopes alive in the decisive game with seven kills and three aces, but Franklin proved to be too much. The Patriots came back from a 10-9 deficit and put the victory away with another kill from Boyd.

Franklin leaders for the two matches were Kmet with 16 kills and seven blocks, Morrill with 11 kills and three aces, Brooke Hensman with eight kills and five blocks, and Danielle Wensing with 28 digs and a .950 serving percentage.

Boyd finished with seven kills for the Patriots. Lyndsay Sopko recorded 26 assists, six kills and six blocks.

Ladywood advanced to the finals by routing Detroit Redford (15-1, 15-2) and then cruising past Redford Union (15-2, 15-1).

Against Detroit, LaBute had six kills in six attempts and five aces. Andrea Rabaley and Mickie Finn had five aces each as the Blazers recorded 18 in all. They had another 13 aces against RU, including seven by Poglitz.

Season ends for Schoolcraft, OCC

No, this isn't the way a dream season should have ended.

Schoolcraft College men's basketball coach Carlos Briggs had hoped for at least two NJCAA Division I playoff games. Also, that was not to be; the Ocelots surrendered a nine-point half-time lead and lost to Cincinnati State 92-87 in the Region 12 semifinals Tuesday at Cincinnati State.

This is the second time we lost to this year that we were better than," said Briggs, his team finishing with a 24-7 record. "We played hard, we competed, but we just didn't play well."

Turnovers and fouls proved to be SC's undoing. The Ocelots committed 25 turnovers in the game; they also shot just six free throws (making four). For the season, they're averaging 25 free throws per game.

Cincinnati State (21-7) was 13-of-24 from the line.

Still, the Ocelots led 55-46 at halftime. But Kevin Melson, the Michigan Community College Athletic Association's player of the year and a first team all-Region 12 selection, was called for his third personal foul with six minutes left in the first half, a situation that hampered him throughout the remainder of the game.

"Our reputation is not as a powerhouse team," said Briggs. "It's not that the officials lost the game for us, but we just didn't get any calls."

That lack of respect certainly played a role in SC's demise. Melson finished with 25 points; the Ocelots were led by Derek McKelvey, an all-Region 12 selection and a second team all-

MCCA Eastern Conference choice, with 25 points.

Emeka Okonkwo, another all-Region 12 pick and honorable mention all-conference, added 19 points and Pete Males (from Garden City), honorable mention all-conference, scored 13.

Quentin Smith's 30 points was best for Cincinnati State. Courtney Tolliver and Jason Forrest contributed 16 apiece.

Macomb tops OCC women

Deirdra Fields put on a performance that was too much for Oakland Community College to overcome in women's basketball Thursday.

Fields scored 47 points and grabbed 21 rebounds to lead Macomb to a 78-68 victory over OCC in the second round of the NJCAA Region XII Tournament. The Macomb center made 20 of 31 field goals and seven of nine free throws while playing all but two minutes of the game. Twelve of her rebounds came at the defensive end.

She was the only player to score in double figures for Macomb (23-7), which led 31-22 at halftime. Kora Hill added nine points off the bench and Jackie Kocis eight.

Sophomore forward Carrie May (North Farmington) scored a team-high 12 points in her last game for the Lady Raiders (16-14).

Jonakieta Sledge tossed in 17 to go with her 12 rebounds, and Jessica Regentin added 10 points.

The Monarchs shot 44 percent (31-of-71) from the floor and 65 percent (13-of-20) at the free-throw line.

OCC made 28 of 75 field goals for 37 percent and nine of 16 free throws for 56 percent. Both teams were 3-of-15 from three-point range.

"We played hard; we played better than we did Tuesday, and that was encouraging," Swinehart said.

The Raiders, who had won four straight and seven of nine games going into the WIAA tournament, have lost their last three heading into the district tournament. North plays Farmington Harrison on Wednesday at Bloomfield Hills Lauder.

"We just hope, if we're lucky, to be in the game with Harrison," Swinehart said. "They're a good team, and we hope to stay close."

REDFORD CC 82, SOUTHWESTERN 48: Senior center Chris Young recorded a triple double Thursday as Redford Catholic Central closed the regular season in boys basketball with an 82-49 win over visiting Detroit Southwestern.

The 6-foot-10 Young scored 39 points and had as many rebounds, and he also posted a career high with 15 blocked shots.

"Anytime a guy gets 15 blocks in one game, it's a phenomenal performance," CC assistant coach John Murphy said. "And he had almost 20 rebounds, so he was keeping the ball in play and grabbing the block."

"He literally closed the basket to any dribble penetration, which is an integral part of Southwestern's attack. We had some success, because they were unable to get the ball to where they wanted it."

CC senior guard Joe Janna scored a game-high 22 points. Junior guards Nick Moore and Brian Doyle added nine and seven points, respectively.

The Shamrocks (15-4) outscored the Prospectors 25-13 in the second quarter to lead at halftime, 40-23. CC added three points to its lead in the third period (59-39) and outscored Southwestern in the finale, 23-10.

Senior Micah Black scored 17 points and senior Myron Lewis 10 to lead the Prospectors, who made three of six free throws. The Shamrocks were 21-of-30 at the line.

FRANKLIN 60, CANTON 54: Eddie Wallace poured in 23 points and Nick Mongeau added 15 as Livonia Franklin (19-11 overall) avenged an earlier loss to Plymouth Canton (7-13 overall).

Wallace and Mongeau, both senior guards, each hit three triples.

Eric Larson led Canton with 14, while Joe Cortes scored seven of his 10 in the final quarter as Canton made a 28-19 run, but fell short.

NORTHVILLE 88, STEVENSON 70: Five players reached double figures for visiting Northville Thursday as the Mustangs kept Livonia Stevenson winless.

Mathison and junior Nathan Bruce six apiece and junior Cory Heltsch five.

A buzzer-beater by Gaines gave Farmington an 11-9 lead after one period, and the Falcons extended it to 17-9 in the second with four points by Gaines and deuce by senior Bryant Bronner.

But the momentum turned quickly as the Vikings rallied to take a 25-22 halftime lead when Central turned up its defensive pressure and forced seven Farmington turnovers in the second quarter.

The Falcons surged again in the third, using an 11-0 run to build a 33-27 lead. The Vikings rallied to tie, but a three-point play by Gaines to end the period had Farmington on top, 36-33.

Milus scored all of his points early in the fourth quarter to Senior Dave Terakedis and Rob Abbott paced the Northville attack with 14 points apiece. Seniors Kelly Bingley and Bob Altan added 11 points each.

The Spartans (0-20) were led by seniors Brian Schiefel and Dave Stando, who netted 15 and 13 points, respectively. Senior Brett Koch added 10.

The Mustangs (10-10) held a big advantage at the free throw line, where they made 20 of 28 shots.

INTER-CITY BAPTIST 74, C'VILLE 63: Clarendonville played without its top two scorers Thursday and was routed by visiting Allen Park Inter-City Baptist.

Without Albert Deljosevic and Justin Villanueva, the Trojans fell behind 25-16 after the first quarter. The Chargers extended their lead to 43-25 by halftime.

Jason Marshall led Inter-City (14-5) with 19 points. Jared Compton added 13. Rick Murphy scored 15 points and Scott Wion 13 for Clarendonville (6-14).

Both teams shot 60 percent from the floor. Central, being much more conservative in its shot selection than the regular-season game with Farmington in which it shot 20 percent and lost, 47-38, was 21-of-42 and 10-of-14 at the line. The Falcons made 22 of 44 field goals.

"We didn't double seal and we turned the ball over twice in a row. There's no reason; we just panicked."

"We work so hard to get back in the game and don't finish it off. I'm not disappointed in the effort to bring us back, but I am disappointed in not finishing out the win."

"It's our 20th game. If we're up four points with two minutes left, we should know how to put them away."

After taking the lead, Farmington secured the victory by making six straight free throws and seven of its final eight.

Senior Ron Freeman made three of the seven, freshman Matt Mikel and Orr two each. The Falcons were 11-of-13 at the line in the fourth quarter and 13-of-18 overall.

Mikel followed Gaines with nine points for the game, Orr and sophomore Justin Milus six apiece. Juniors Evan Roehm and Randy Hassan came off the bench to add three important points each.

Central sophomore Nick Hall scored 15 points, senior Jeff
