Malthoid Roofing

A roofing guarantee is worth no more than the quality of the roofing.

If the roofing is not made to make good, the maker never will.

Buy Malthoid Roofing—lay it carefully—you'll never have occasion to request us to protect the makers guarantee.

Malthoid will render you a roof service so good—so long—so satisfactory—you'll forget the guarantee.

The Paraffine Paint Co.'s name on a roll of Malthoid Roofing is guarantee enough for those who have known them for twenty-six years.

LOCAL NEWS

The board of supervisors are holding their annual session this week.

In our advertising columns this week are a few words about the celebrated Royal Valley Coffees.

Miss Miriam Buell of Milford was the guest of her cousin, Miss Leola Ike, a few days this week.

The regular meeting of Farmington chapter, O. E. S. will be held Friday evening of this week.

A daughter was born October 4 to Mr. and Mrs. George Barker of Detroit, formerly of Clarenceville.

M. E. services, October 5: Morning sermon topic, "How God actually talks to men today;" evening, "The greatest sinner in the bible."

Mrs. Matilda Nauman and daughter, Mrs. Julia Smith, departed Monday for Los Angeles, California, where they expect to spend the winter.

Mrs. Fred Westfall, who has been very ill, is slowly recovering her health. She has been under the care of Miss Florence Eldred a trained nurse of Northville.

The eleventh annual meeting of the Oakland County Federation of Womens Clubs will be held at Farmington on Nov. 4. Programs are being printed and will be ready for distribution in a few days.

The teacher, Miss Norine Hogle, and pupils of the Thayer school will give a box social at that place Friday evening, Oct. 27. They extend a cordial invitation to all to come. Ladies bring boxes and come prepared for a good time.

Work has been started on the new Northwestern high school at the intersection of Grand River avenue and the Boulevard. This part of the city is fast forging to the front and it all helps this section of the adjoining country.

If some of the people who are anxious to move to Farmington to make their home will communicate with this office they will be furnished with a list of houses that are for sale. There are several that can be had at a very reasonable price and on terms as easy as paying rent.

The second of the series of Citizens' meetings being held in the M. E. church was addressed in a very forceful manner Wednesday night by Rev. Evans of Redford. Mr. Evans is an eloquent speaker and his subject "The Challenge of the Church to the Community" was deeply interesting.

Henry E. German, whose home has been sold to parties from Charlotte, is going to have a big sale on Tuesday next. All live stock, tools and grains, besides numerous household articles, will be sold and in order to make it a one day affair Henry Kyle, the auctioneer, will open the sale at nine o'clock sharp.

Eugene Grace, proprietor of the Owen House has concluded to dispose of his lively business connected with the hotel and will sell off the property at auction on Saturday afternoon of next week, if it is not previously disposed of. There seems to be a good opportunity for some one to engage in the business.

The Dearborn Rural News, C. D. Potter's new paper, made its appearance this week. It is an eight-page paper and appears to have found a ready market, judging by the advertising of the home business men that appear in its columns. This paper extends its journalistic right hand to the new aspirant in the newspaper field and wishes it all kinds of success.

For Sale—One well bred Jersey calf. D. B. Button.

Don't forget the Grocery Department when at Cook & Co.'s store.

FOLEY'S ORINO LAXATIVE FOR STOMACH TROUBLE AND CONSTIPATION

Miss Ike, the milliner, has a new line of goods that are attracting a great deal of attention from the ladies this fall.

Services at 10:30 o'clock Sunday at Farmington Baptist church. B. J. Klump will speak upon "Sowing and Reaping." "Some seed bring forth tenfold and some one hundredfold." Men always reap more than they sow. W. E. Prouse will sing. Everybody cordially invited.

Howard and "Hucks" on Hand

Quite a few football fans went from Farmington last Saturday to see the game at D. A. C. grounds, Detroit, between Adrian College and Central High. It was a splendid game to watch. Central held the big college team down very well indeed and in fact outplayed the bigger aggregation in many points. Central's quarter-back, Clark, was a little nervous at the beginning of the game and fumbled a punt from Adrian's back; Adrian grabbed the ball and went over for a touchdown. A fine goal was kicked giving Adrian six points all told. This was the only score during the entire game, and this was caused merely by a fluke.

Howard Warner certainly played a star game for Central High as "centre scriu." It was amazing to see the bigger Adrian men go down hard when Howard tackled. Evidently a brilliant football record is before our Farmington athlete if all goes well with him.

"Hucks" Patterson, who pitched several base ball games for Farmington 1st this summer, also played a good game for Central Saturday as left end. In the "forward pass" stunt, "Hucks" was there with the goods, perfecting the play beautifully.

Central High journey to Saginaw next Saturday.

Begin the Season's Work

The Ladies' Literary club held its initial meeting for the year Wednesday afternoon at the home of the president, Mrs. Agnes Chamberlain. Eighteen members were present. After a business meeting the following program was rendered, opening the Study of Japan: The Founding of an Empire—Lavina Adams.

The Geography of Japan—Ernestine Pierce.

Myths and Legends—Ella Irish. At the conclusion of the program the club adjourned to meet Oct. 25th with Mrs. M. R. Wilber. Mrs. PIERCE, Sec.

Corine, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Cogsdill, died Oct. 2, aged about two months. Services were held at the home in Novi Oct. 4, and interment was made in Oakwood cemetery, Farmington.

"Press the earth lightly Or her young breast; Fashioned so slightly. So early at rest. Life was just beginning. It's pathway scarce trod; Pure from all slumbering. Her spirit's with God."

INFLUENCE OF SALT WATER

It induces Some to Drink, Others to Be Profane, and Others to Tell Falsehoods.

When riding on the harbor steam boats use your ears. Then you will not need your eyes nor your brains. By paying heed to the intentionally audible remarks of your neighbor it will be possible to pick up more inaccurate information than in any other place in the city. The deck of a ferry or the rail of a steamer acts curiously on the human mind. If it does not know, it will risk a guess, and the wilder the guess the more willingly risked.

It is well known that salt water acts in freakish ways on the conscience. To some it brings an overwhelming impulse to get drunk; to others it brings a disposition to the freest use of profanity; and still others, who would never think of shaming from the wide jaws of a railroad train (dear old gentlemen, and innocent young girls), the instant they get off from the wharf begin to tell the most shocking whoppers.—Boston Transcript.

SWORDFISH AND BEER KEG

New York Judge Tells a Lurid Tale of Adventure Off Block Island.

Judge Tom Dinean is back with his good ship Nona after a cruise in which he had some rare adventures, says the New York World. Here's one as he tells it himself with his well known regard for veracity:

"We were fifteen miles off Block Island in the dusk of the day when we came on a school of salt mackerel. First thing we knew a swordfish butted in and there was a wild scramble among the mackerel. The swordfish filled up on the school and then like an overfed hog took a nap on the surface of the water. My engineer used to be a New Bedford whaler and he carries a lot of old-time tackle on the Nona. He went forward and heaved a harpoon into the small of the swordfish's back. He had already secured an empty beer keg—got that empty?" So the end of the harpoon line Mr. Swordfish as soon as the harpoon got into him took it on the run with the beer keg trailing along. He dived and tacked and doubled on his tracks, but the keg was ever on the job. Finally he desisted and exhaustion did the trick. He gave a feeble flicker with his tail and we hauled him aboard. He was six feet two inches long and weighed four hundred pounds, and say—he was fine eating."

Inclined to Be Skeptical

"What do you say?" asked the business man who had permitted the fortune teller to lead him into a dark room and hold his hand.

"Ah, I see many wonderful things here," she replied. "You will have good luck with the business you are going into."

"What else do you see?" "You will make a great deal of money soon."

"Anything more?" "You will live to be a very old man and have good health."

"All right. What else?" "That is all I see."

"Isn't there anything about a dark little lady who loves me?" "Oh, I will look again. I thought you were old enough to have a wife and family. So, you are widowed?"

"Yes, but I don't more than half believe you can foretell the future, after all."

IS NOT FIT TO LIVE WITH

The Genius Always Is an Impossible Creature Who Makes Family and Friends Wretched.

One of the strangest signs of the times is our universal admiration for geniuses; yet a genius, no matter how you view him, is always an impossible creature. He isn't fit to live with. He makes life miserable for his family. If he doesn't marry, he is a curse to all his friends. And the probability is that no one will appreciate him in his own age. Yet when we hear that such and such a one is a genius, we experience an instant feeling of envy. Most of us would like to be a genius, if we could have, along with it, our own steady traits. We wouldn't give up our regular income, but if we could be a genius with it, we should like it very well.

Lombroso declares that geniuses are abnormal—degenerate types. Science turns them to biological yards "sports"—that is, they are exceptions to a rule. They are supposed to see things straight, whereas everybody else is abnormal. Bernard Shaw says that is what is the matter with him.—Thomas L. Mason in Lippincott's.

Minds Mated

"I can tell you one thing," said Perkins with emphasis. "When I marry, it won't be any higher education girl. My wife won't know Greek."

"No," said Edgely, looking at him as he went. "nor beans."

Read "Facts No. 2" in Cook & Co.'s ad. for this week. Something for you to think about.

Sent By the Sun.

The towering Washington monument, solid as it is, cannot resist the heat of the sun, poured on its southern side on a midsummer's day, without a slight bending of the gigantic shaft which is rendered perceptible by means of a copper wire, 174 feet long, hanging in the center of the structure, and carrying a plummet suspended in a vessel of water. At noon in summer the apex of the monument, 550 feet above the ground, is shifted, by expansion of the stone, a few hundredths of an inch toward the north. High winds cause perceptible motions of the plummet, and in still weather delicate vibrations of the crust of the earth, otherwise unperceived, are registered by it.
