practice and conditioning," he said. "It's a great opportunity to get some football in before I have to report to camp in Kalamazoo."

The 6-foot-1 Lewis, who has bulked up to 270 pounds lifting weights and working construction this summer, believes he has a chance to become Kalamazoo's starting center this year.

"They don't have a center coming back, and they told me I have as good a shot as anybody," he said. "I like the idea of going in and playing right away. I'm one of those people who likes the competition."

"If I had to, I could take my lumps and watch from the sideline for a while, but I'd much rather be on the field playing."

One of the reasons I play football is because I love playing football.

"They started 15 sophomores last year and have 17 starters returning. One of the few openings they have is center, and that's a position I've played the last two years."

Lewis doesn't anticipate much difficulty in making the transition to college football.

"For any high school player going to college, everybody there is going to be big and strong, because you're playing against men 21 and 22 years old," he said. "I think (the Hawks) were one of the best at being physical, so I think I'm as ready as anybody to move to the next level."

Ball State, Holy Cross, Harvard and Penn had also expressed interest in Lewis but later backed away, because they decided he didn't fit the prototypical mold they imagined for a lineman.

"Basically, they thought I was too short," Lewis said. "I guess that's the thing about recruiting: they recruit you for your body, not so much for your football ability. They think they can teach you everything but can't make you taller."

Lewis will receive an education that is as good or superior at Kalamazoo, a school noted for its academic standards.

He graduated from Harrison with high honors and a 3.66 grade point. He plans to major in either business or economics.

NFWB takes 2nd again

The North Farmington West Bloomfield Ultimate Precision 16-under girls fastpitch softball team finished second in the annual Brighton Softball Tournament.

For the second-straight week NFWB lost in the tournament championship game, 3-2, this time to the Sylvania (Ohio) Sting.

A sacrifice fly scored the winning run in the seventh inning, breaking a 2-2 tie.

Lindsey Emmott pitched the final for NFWB, throwing a five-hitter with five walks and three strikeouts. She also excelled at the plate, hitting a home run and a double.

Jenelle Welling doubled in the other Ultimate Precision run while Chrissy King, Kim Spaulding, Leslie Schrock, Kelly McKeon and Danielle Kelmigian each collected singles. Ultimate Precision outlasted Sylvania 8-5.

Ultimate Precision reached the finals with a 7-5 win over Pinconning, collecting 12 hits in the semi-finals.

King went 3-for-4 with a double and triple. Emmett, Spaulding and Leslie Schrock each had two hits.

Welling set the tone for the game, leading off with a homer. McKeon and Kelmigian each contributed singles. Emmett went the distance, allowing eight hits and two walks with six strikeouts.

In pool play, Ultimate Precision beat L'Anse au Loup North, 11-0, as Kristin Schrock threw a two-hitter with one walk and eight strikeouts in a five-inning mercy. Welling had two triples to lead the hitting attack. King had a double and single and Christine Fones and Leslie Schrock had two hits each.

Christina Colombo, Spaulding, Kelmigian and McKeon had singles.

Ultimate Precision also beat the Algonac Storm, 7-1, behind a one-hitter thrown by Emmett. She also struck out six. McKeon went 3-for-4, King belted a homer and single and Fones, Spaulding, Kelmigian and Leslie Schrock each had singles.

Ultimate Precision beat the Northville Broncos, 20-0, in a five-inning mercy in the final game of pool play. Kristin Schrock threw her second shutout of the tournament, allowing a single in the first inning to spoil what would have been a perfect game. She struck out eight.

Fones hit grand slams from both the left and right side of the plate and Estee Adory also hit a grand slam. Kristin Schrock had two hits.

Ultimate Precision finished its tournament season with a 14-9 record.

Lakers win 1st round game, 7-1

There's no doubt, the Metro Summer Hockey League enters to scores — except, maybe, when the playoffs roll around.

That's when the defenses take over.

The Lakers and the Wildcats battled through the first two periods of their first-round playoff game Tuesday, scoring just three goals between them. Indeed, it stayed rather close, and low scoring, until the final 4 1/2 minutes, when the Lakers scored four times to pull away to a 7-1 victory at Plymouth Ice Arena.

The Lakers advanced to play the Huskies for the Bakes Conference title, and a berth in Sunday's MSHL championship game, last night.

Eric Dolech (from Farmington Hills) scored three goals and added an assist to lead the Laker offense. Jeremie Murray (Redford) and Nick Jardine each added a goal and three assists, with Matt Krupa and Brad Feiler (Canton) each getting a goal.

Brian Calka (Livonia) accounted for the 'Cats' only goal.

Lanny Jardine was in goal for the Lakers. Chuck Schervish played in the net for the 'Cats.

In other first round games, the Bulldogs beat the Spartans, 10-3, the Huskies beat the Wolverines, 10-5.

The championship game is set for 8 p.m. Sunday. All games will be played at Plymouth Ice Arena.
