In Farmington Hills:
A 26-year-old Lansing woman told police she met a 26-year-old Livonia man on the Internet and after several telephone conversations met him Saturday, Aug. 1, at his home. The date, however, wasn't what she expected. They got into his 1996 Jeep

Cherokee and went for lunch at a local restaurant where the man drank beer. The woman told police that after lunch he began acting oddly and driving erratically. He started talking about marriage and said that she was "his woman" as they drove to the Rustic Pub in Farmington where he began cussing at her. They left the bar and were driving north on Orchard Lake Road where the woman said she jumped out of the car. The man also got out of the car, chased her and grabbed her by the sweater. She was able to get out of his reach and walked away. The man then drove off. The woman walked to a restaurant and called police. She said she didn't want to prosecute. However, she did want to file a police report. Police took her to the suspect's home to retrieve her car. By the time police arrived, the man had returned and was acting irrationally. The man's brother said he was taking medication for mental reasons and shouldn't have been drinking.
