Chargers score 3-2 victory over Flyers

Livonia Churchill is coming along slowly, maybe a little more slowly than coach Jeff Hatley would like.

Churchill edged the host Farmington unified team, 3-2, Friday night, but a one-goal victory over a winless team isn't going to send any coach into Hockey Heaven.

"We're like no other team I've coached before," Hatley said. "We're capable of beating (state power) Trenton. But we also play to the level of our competition on any given night. We're struggling a little bit right now."

They did, however, defeat Farmington, building up a 3-0 lead and giving up two third-period goals.

Churchill is now 5-3-4 overall, 4-2-1 in the Suburban High School Hockey League. Farmington Unified hasn't won a game in 12 tries.

Ryan McBroom played the first period in goal for the Chargers, Duane Jones the second and Matt Williams the third. Logan McLean was in the nets for Farmington.

Churchill opened with two first-period goals. Jason Turri, assisted by Dan Cook, made it 1-0 at 3:26 and Cook scored an unassisted marker at 11:39.

Adam Krug, assisted by Chuck Leight and Ed Rossetto, hiked the margin to 3-0 in the second. Farmington came back in the third but was unable to tie the score. Kevin Temerowski scored an unassisted goal at 2:38, and Ross Patterson scored at the six-minute mark. Chris Hone and Tony Ward assisted on Patterson's goal.

racers. They could and most likely will lead the team into a competitive regional position, and I expect the team to make the states.

Salla and Burek each made all-division and Burek was an all-region choice.

Joining them for her senior year is Maggie Jallies, who had a couple varsity starts a year ago.

"She should be an extremely consistent racer this year," Gable said.

The Marlins also have an "up-and-coming sophomore," according to Gable, in Nicole Anderson.

Salla was fourth in 34.66 seconds in the season opener. Burek took sixth (35.01) and Anderson seventh (35.09).

Junior Amy McDuffee, the best JV racer a year ago, has earned a spot in the lineup.

Sophomores Laura Burek and Marcy Godlew, also off the JV, will earn varsity starts as well.

"Some of them are just real strong, basic skiers," Gable said. "My job is to teach them to race."

Gable didn't like having limited practice time before the first meet, but that's every team's dilemma.

"With the experience I have coming back, we should be OK," Gable said. "I think they're ready to race. From a coaching standpoint, you'd love to have them on the hill more (for practice), but the season is so short, we've got to get meets off and running."

CC sophomore Matt Gable is carrying extra weight on his 5-foot-9 frame, and it's not just because he's stockier than last winter when he made all-division, all-league and all-region.

Attribute it also to the cast he wears over an arm he broke while playing defensive end on the CC JV football team.

He's had the cast on about three weeks and it could be on another five weeks, which makes up most of the season.

Gable is the team's leading returnee and Tom Gable's son. Graduation hit the Shamrocks hard as all-division choices Matt Kessler, Jason Anderson and J.D. Robison and starter Brian Goebel have moved on.

CC finished third in the Mount Brighton Division regular season standings, fifth in the division championships and seventh at the regional last year.

Matt Gable apparently has a high tolerance for pain. He needed two surgeries to repair an eye socket that was injured while falling last spring in the Junior Olympics in Colorado where he was fourth in his age group.

He's fully recovered from the eye injury, but the broken arm is further aggravation.

"I think he's self-motivated," coach Gable said. "He's got a lot of strength. The doctor said if he experiences any type of discomfort he should just stop doing it. He's not real happy about it. The cast goes quite high to the elbow."

Gable was the top skier in Tuesday's giant slalom at Mount Brighton. His time was 29.25 seconds but an expected battle for first place from last year's top racer on the circuit, Birmingham Seaholm's Asa Sherwood, never materialized.

Sherwood wasn't with his team, which finished in fourth place with 78 points.

"I'm surprised the 'Gun' (Sherwood) didn't show up," coach Gable said. "Last year he and Matt were neck and neck most of the time. There were races where they were hundredths of a second apart."

The only other returning starter for the Shamrocks is senior Brad Turowski. He was disqualified in the season opener.

"He's very fast but inconsistent," Gable said. "We're going to work on using a lot of mental vision type training. The DQs will kill you."

The Shamrocks were in first place after the first run Tuesday. Senior Miguel Martinez was the fastest CC finisher after Gable, taking 10th place (32.45). Another senior Geo Madias took 12th (32.73).

Junior Scot Zaleski, another promising skier, fell in one of his runs and finished 46th (43.10).

Martinez and Madias have top 10 potential in division meets, according to Gable.

"Martinez is a very disciplined athlete from being a football player; his goals are very high and he's very coachable," Gable said. "Madias is a very talented athlete, and I expect a lot out of him."

Sophomore Eric Sullivan also will contribute to the team.
