Krafchak earns kudos for organizing effort

BY C.J. RIBAK
BYAY WHINE
For years, Salem and Canton high schools have taken great pride in their talents in track.
Last weekend, the combined Plymouth and Canton communities proved those abilities, displayed year after year after year, were built on a sturdy foundation.
In April, Mike Krafchak was given what many would consider a no-way-to-win task: Take over the organization and planning for the Region V USA Track and Field Junior Olympics, a fourstate affair that would affect more than 1,200 athletes.
This is the only time Michigan will host this event in a five-year span. When the Jackson community ran into difficulties, Plymouth and Canton were asked.
Krafchak, a longtime track/crose country supporter, could not allow so many young people to be disappointed.
He accepted the challenge.
And last weekend, he pulled it off.
The total number of participants, according to the Canton resident, was a pproximately 1,250. "It was a lot of work," he said Tueeday, nearly two days after the final event had concluded, and we still haven't recovered, sleepwise. Sind of thing that's very gratifying when it works well. And this weat pretty well."

It certainly demanded mass amounts of organization. On Thursday and Friday, event thought they would, said three Saturday and Sunday and Su

In the Youth girls division (13-14 years-old), Carla Grace of the Ohio Association was a double-winner, taking the 200-meter hurdies (28.73), and Jesnico Ordway, also of the Ohio Association, got wins in the 800-meters (2:25.34) and 1,500-meters (2:25.34) and 1,500-meters (4:55.586)

(22:5.34) and Jour-meters (4:55.58). Tough competition made doubling in the Youth boys division even more difficult. Only one athlete managed it: Matthew Knippen of the Ohio Association, who won the shot put (4:3-9) and discus (149-7).

There were plenty of other with the competition of the original of the competition of the competiti
