By barring stealth technology, committee members felt that would keep cellular antennae out of residential areas.

Cellular companies have found ways around that, too. A wireless firm built a tower that resembles a cross at Church of the Nazarene, which overlooks I-275.

"Instead of an antenna in a steeple, they've got a steeple that is an antenna," Commissioner David Haron said.

Farmington Hills: A 32-year-old Inkster woman was taken into custody Monday for questioning about embezzlement. A manager at the 22069 Farmington Road 7-Eleven store said the employee may have embezzled as much as $16,000 over the past few months by voiding sales, falsifying bottle returns and taking store merchandise, according to a police report. The manager provided the police with documentation of the suspected phony transactions.

Farmington Hills: Police investigated an animal complaint Monday after an anonymous resident reported a neighbor was keeping a number of animals on their property in the 31000 block of Merton. A police report stated the woman was keeping llamas, sheep, ducks, rabbits and a donkey and that they appeared to be well cared for. No citations were issued.

Farmington Hills:
A 29-year-old Columbus, Ohio, man was taken into custody for trespassing Monday for refusing to leave the Holiday Inn, 38123 10 Mile. He was initially told to leave by hotel security and then by police at about 9 p.m. At about 11:40 p.m., he was taken into custody for returning to the hotel.

Farmington Hills:
A 20-year-old Walled Lake man was cited late Monday for possessing narcotics and paraphernalia after police stopped to question him and two others about hitchhiking. The other two subjects were issued verbal warnings about hitchhiking, according to a police report.

Farmington Hills:
A 39-year-old Farmington Hills man was cited early Tuesday for operating under the influence of liquor, not having a valid driver's license on him and for having open intoxicants in his vehicle. He recorded a .12 blood alcohol level in a breath test, according to police.

AAA Michigan's free "Child I.D." fingerprinting program has become so popular with parents that the Auto Club will continue to offer this service on a daily basis from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. weekdays at various locations, including Farmington Hills. Volunteers from each branch will provide the "Child I.D." service at the branch location.
