There have been some efforts in the past to get the high schools organized for bowling as an interscholastic sport.

The long-awaited high school program has started and the combined forces are behind this movement on a nationwide theorem will be governed by the Michigan High School Bowling Conference, which has teams in three divisions: Western, Northern and Eastern A.

The Western Division opened with the standard program will still be able to compete in other sports.

It is well planned and coordinated with the right people running the show. The teams are busically bowling clubs. The kids are getting well qualified conciping and will still be able to compete in other sports.

The SDS has the combined resources of ABC, WIBC, YABA and the BPAA. Their idea that kids can compete in a non contect high school sport has wide appeal to a lot of parents who look for the youth activities which will help develop sportsmanship and competitive spirit without losing their teeth.

This has been the way that bowling has been able to self perpetuate over the years - developing youth bowlers to take over when the older bowlers move on. Now with the high schools involved, there will be more future growth as these youngsters learn the game and become more proficient at it.

As the Westland John Glenn teem showed their skills at a higher level than the others. The John Glenn boys are Tom Howard, Ryan Hilden, Darrin Turner, Brian Stewart and Brandi Howard.

The Boys team is leading the pack after the first two sessions.

The Boys team is leading the pack after the first two sessions.

High scores were relided by Howard with 246/649, Mason

Brantley (Detroit Northwestern)
246/648 and Stewart 236/639.
The second session had Greg upon the individual bowler, how serious they are about the game. Most recreational bowlers would only need one or two balls, one shiny and one with a dull finish. That would handle the strike shot and spare shooting as well. The higher average bowler in the 180 to 210 range may want to have four balls for various lane conditions and a tournament bowler needs at least eight bowling balls and must understand the characteristics of each. At least one ball should have dull finish for oillier conditions, that is the most important factor next to the weight block. Once you understand these variables you can pretty much conquer any lane conditions.

Q. In a nutshell, what is the best way to play the lanes?

David: Generally, you want to play the shot that you are mest comfortable with. For most bowlers, Thats the second arrow down-and-in shot. Some houses may require more awing from the fourth arrow to the second arrow. In todays conditions for the last two years, the strighter shot is more offective than the big hook. The people with a simple down and in game are doing the most accring and taking home the jackpots.
