Joseph E. Thomas.
About 16 people, including five reporters, attended Monday's meeting. Among them were the newly elected chair of the Oak-

"State law specifies that this committee will select a successor," he said, "but the law does-

—Vacancy Committee

The committee has some impute from Genesee County, where a similar committee last month selected a replacement for the incumbent sheriff who resigned. But any information

The need for swift, but not hasty action to appoint a new sheriff was underscored during the public comment part of the meeting by Dale Cunningham, the sheriff department's business manager. Cunningham reminded the committee of three pressing matters that he said

Those pressing matters are, Cunningham said, an ongoing study into staffing needs, authorized by the board of commissioners; an investigation into the department's policies on providing medical care for inmates; and jail overcrowding.
