Protecting the Country

Parls.—The famous Elfid I tower, long celebrated as the highest structure in the world, has been turned into a huge instrument for protecting the country from haltistorms.
French scientists hold the theory that haltstorms are due to electrical disturbances in the atmosphete, and they have fitted the great tower with an apparatus which will carry for the atmospheric electricity. This apparatus consists of two great bands of copper 28 inches wide. The ends are furnished with projecting points and Being annious as to his prospects in one of the early attempts to enter parliament, Herbert Samuel consuited his agent, who said the chancels were not rosy, because he was a "carptbagger."

Mr. Samuel thoreupon promised to live in the distion if he were successful, and bills were immediately posted that "If Herbert Samuel is returned next Tuesday he will come to live here."

Some of the other side, however, posted one of these bills on a pigsty.

Mr. Samuel did not win the election.
