Harrison also has the area's top hurdler in Nick Hall, the heir apparent to Churchill's graduated Ryan Kearney (now at Western Michigan). The Hawks also have the top-ranked pole vaulter in the area is Derek Laskowski, who has gone 14-2. They also have a formidable discus thrower in Brad Person. Catholic Central, third a year ago and the 1992 and '93 champion, always brings strong shot put and discus relay teams to the meet, along with a top-flight distance brigade.

Central Michigan University football-bound Mike Morris, who has thrown 51-6 in the short put and 150-7 in the discus, both ness thrown 51-6 in the short put and 150-7 in the discus, both ness thrown 51-6 in the short put and 150-7 in the discus, both nere bests, leads the CC cest. Ho'll get help from Charlie Roum and Jeff Duoweke. Last year CC had the area's top discust horover, state Class A champion Nick Brazinaki (now playing football at Duke).

C'ye distance team is led by Matt Daly and John DilGiovanni. The Shamrocks also have an improving hurdler in Ton Grant and a promising freshman sprinter in Randall Moans. The latter has been alsowed by a hip injury.

looks pretty good.

"If we can't win it, then we're going to try to win a trophy (either second or third place).

Host Churchill, seeking its first Observerland title since 1989, finished second last year.

Coach Rick Austin has a strong discus and shot put thrower in cenior Mike Gaura. The Chargers will also be strong in the long jump with jumor Eric Scott. The distance crew is led by senior Jason Richmond and Ryan Gall.

"The name of the game is to score points in every event."

Rynn Gall.

"The name of the game is to score points in every event," Austin said. "We have three long jumpers who have gone over 19 feet. Our sprint relays are going to have to step it up. We're deep in the distance events; that's the strength of our team."

So who is Austin handicapping as the favoritee?

"I'm impressed with Harrison, and Canton has a great team," he said. "Salem has some good people in key areas. They'll be up there as well. It looks like a wide-open race."

Austin, a business instructor at Churchill, missed practice Monday and Tuesday to attend a nationwide student marketing conference.

Ironically, this year's conference site was Louisville, home of the Kantucky Derby.

"We got to tour the Churchill Downs Museum and it's quite a place," Austin said. "The town is really knoping this week."

And it appears the Observerland Relays will stage a pretty good event of its own on Derby Day.

"We couldn't get any brenks; we had so many opportunities.

We were hitting the poet, kicking it over the top; we weren't getting the ball in the net.

"Their keeper was making some big saves, too."

The Marlins are 5-1-1 in the Catholic League Contral Division and 6-2-2 overall.

"Finally, we're getting a lot of our players who were hurt and injured back," Macioce said. The work off helped. It's good that we're coming back strong.

"We have a tough game Thursday (with Bishop Foley). I know the girls will be ready. We had opportunities the first time."
