

Conroy's Corners
Harold Noble was a Detroit business caller Friday.
Mrs. Chas. Shephard, of Southfield spent a few days of last week with her sister, Mrs. Ed. Conroy, who accompanied her home on Sunday.
Chas. Gravlin from the Town Line called at Ed. Conroy's Tuesday.
Mr. and Mrs. Omer Conroy, Mrs. Ed. Conroy and Mrs. Chas. Shephard of Southfield were Pontiac shoppers Saturday.
Angust Layaz has commenced to move onto his farm which he recently purchased of Carl Naback.
A large crowd attended the auction sale at Carl Naback's last Tuesday.
Mrs. Lucinda Conroy was a week end visitor with relatives in Farmington.
Mrs. Harry Bartlett and son, Lloyd, were Detroit visitors Saturday.
Frank Shear was a Detroit business caller Monday.
Mr. and Mrs. Martin Sprenger were in Detroit Friday.
Mr. Olmstead of Birmingham, formerly of this vicinity, called on Harry Bartlett Tuesday.
Max Sprenger, who had been confined to the house with tonsillitis, is able to be out again.
Chas. Davis returned home Sunday after a few days' visit in Detroit.
Friends from Detroit were entertained at Mr. Obetky's Sunday.
White Lake.
Leroy Jackson is recovering from an attack of lumbago.
News received from Mrs. Irene Sweet, who is spending some time in Ohio, states that she is improving in health.
The Ladies' Aid society met with Mrs. Joseph Jackson on Thursday.
Several farmers here are marketing their potatoes at $1.00 per bushel.
Mrs. Carl Voorheis, Mrs. A. R. Bahler, Mrs. Gen. Jarrett and Mrs. Leroy Jackson entertained at a miscellaneous shower at the home of the former in honor of Miss Winifred Chamberlin, whose engagement to George Freeman Hubbard was recently announced.
On the 88th birthday of Mrs. J. P. Fisher, which occurred a short time ago her many friends here and elsewhere remembered her with a shower of post cards. She received upwards and also received an original poem from her friend and pastor, Rev. Owen J. Roberts, now of Schoolcraft.
Redford
The little six months' son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Munger died at Detroit Monday, where he had been taken by his mother for treatment.
A very fine, little daughter came on Tuesday to bless the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Whitefoot.
George Burt, the Redford supervisor, very graciously declined election as chairman of the board of supervisors last week in favor of Supervisor Garvey, who was chairman pro tem. There is little doubt but that Redford will be honored by the chairmanship next year if Supervisor Burt is returned for he is very popular with the members who consider him one of the most capable men on the board.
Seymour L. Brown of Pontiac has bought Mr. Frank Robeson's farm on Evergreen road. Mr. Brown was formerly a well known farmer of Novi.
"Great Cry and Little Woof" seemed to apply to Redford's municipal election Monday. It was noised about that an attempt was to be made to depose one of the trustees who has held that position for some time and Councilman Bosworth was picked as the victim. There was nothing against Bosworth personally, or as an official, for it was freely conceded that he had always been one of the best men on the board, but his interests were thought to be more on Grand River avenue and for that reason it was decided to retire him. Several men were approached to stand as a candidate against him, but declined. However, Lincoln A. Lamphere, who lives out north Lahser avenue, consented to allow his name to be used and accordingly slips for posting over Bosworth's name were plentiful on election day.

The ants did good work and every available vote in the corporation was out and their activity for a time alarmed some of the more timid, but when the vote was finally counted it was discovered that the alarm was needless. Bosworth had 54 votes and Lamphere 27, hence the application of the saying, "Great cry and little woof."
There were 92 votes polled and they went as follows:
President—Geo. C. Burgess, 80
Clerk—John Venus, 83
Treas.—Frank H. Ward, 81
Assessor—Thos. C. Houghton, 82
Trustee—Chas. A. Lahser, 82
John J. Vroman, 81
A. M. Bosworth, 81
Lincoln A. Lamphere, 28
Nine votes were defective and were thrown out on that account.
Boy Scout Movement
Statistics show that the most impressionable age is before the age of 21. Good citizenship training must be gotten in before that age or it will likely be too late. The Boy Scout movement tries to help the boy safely over that series of crises—the years from 12 to 21.
This movement is not mere play, it is serious, and has come to do real, permanent good, and it has come to stay. The object, aim, motto and laws of this movement show just how serious and steady a movement it is. The object is "to make boys into strong and good men." The oath every Boy Scout must take and keep is this:
On my honor I will do my best:
1. To do my duty to God and my country and to obey the Scout law.
2. To help other people at all times.
3. To keep myself physically strong, mentally awake and morally straight.
The Scout motto is "Be Prepared." The Scout laws consist of 12 laws of honor. A Scout must be:
1. Trustworthy—If a Scout is detected in a lie, or in cheating, or neglecting a task he undertook on his honor, his badge may be taken from him, and he be discarded from the ranks.
2. Loyal—To his home, his parents, his Scout leader and his country.
3. Helpful—He must do at least one good turn to somebody every day.
4. Friendly—A friend to all, but a brother to every other Scout in the world.
5. Courteous—To women, children, the aged, weak and helpless, and is forbidden to take pay for being helpful or courteous.
6. Kind—To all animals: must not needlessly harm any living creature.
7. Obedient—To the very letter, to parents, Scout master, patrol leader and all other duly constituted authorities.
8. Cheerful—Must smile habitually and daily, and eschew grumbling.
9. Thrifty—Must not destroy property, must begin a bank account of his own, must be industrious. He may work for pay, but is absolutely forbidden to accept tips for courtesies.
10. Brave—Must face danger in spite of fear, and dare to do right in spite of sneers.
11. Clean—In body, thought, speech, sport, habits; a dirty boy may not become a Scout.
12. Reverent—Toward God, faithful to his religious duties, and must respect the religious convictions of others.

GREAT EMPEROR'S PET NAME
In Home Circle German War Lord Permits Himself to Be Known as "Willy."
In the Woman's Home Companion there is an intimate personal story of Emperor William's only daughter, Victoria Louise, in which some new facts are brought out about the emperor and empress of Germany. Following is a brief extract:
"The emperor, in absence of his consort, speaks of her as 'my wife'; the empress in the home circle addresses him as 'Willy'. The former alludes to his family, from the crown prince to the princess, as 'my young ones'; the latter speaks of them not by title, but as 'my children'; both expressions so clearly conveying the close existing attachment.
"Very often the emperor gives evidence of unexpected emotion, the ever-present thought with him of his family. At times, when they were small children, and he was being entertained at state banquets as the guest of prince or prince, he would slip bomboms into his pocket, quietly saying, 'These are for the young ones; something brought home all tastes better; I know that from experience.'
"It is told of the emperor that in Rome, when he was selecting a gown to take home as a present to the empress, a relative advised as choice an elaborate creation, mainly of black. 'Impossible,' he answered. 'With the children constantly clambering over her, it would soon be in ribbons.'
DEEPEST DEPTHS OF POVERTY
Section in Italian Capital That Might Challenge Comparison With Any World City.
The problem of life among the poor of Rome, Italy, has been illustrated by Prof. Domestico Grano, who recently wrote a book dealing with the miserable condition of the inhabitants of the Testaccio quarter, the most densely populated district of Rome.
Out of the 10,000 inhabitants of this quarter, scattered in 82 tenement houses, there are 723 families who cannot afford to rent apartments but are forced to huddle together in rooms where they can sleep. There are 818 single-room apartments in the quarter and 109 rooms are occupied by five persons each, 78 by 6, 25 by 8, while the rest afford shelter to from 10 to 15 people. The rent for sleeping space in each room varies from $1 to $5 a month.
The hygienic conditions of the tenement houses in Testaccio are very bad. As a rule the poor people of Rome live on vegetable soup with paste and bread, as they cannot afford to eat either meat or fish, but to make up for their scanty diet they drink wine freely. There are 18 wine shops in the quarter against only three shops where milk is sold, and the average daily consumption of wine is over 8,170 gallons for 10,000 people, including women and children.
Society's Latest Fad.
If the reports current in Paris are to be credited leaders of fashion will be shortly starting their numberless by sport with feet and ankles bare. The ladies declare that in the name of hygiene and beauty all their followers should discard shoes and stockings as all seekers of good health forbid the corset. It is said delicate white satin anklets will be allowed and the toes of the fair wearers will nestle under borders of bright hued woolen covers. The same fad will climb like creepers around the bare ankles.
This new fashion craze will also lead, it is anticipated, to devoted exercise imparting a chaste salute on the ladies' feet instead of on their hands, and in view of such a proceeding taking place already some noted beauties are practicing exercises to render their knees supple.—Exchange.
Curran and the Irish Chief Justice.
Lord Norbury held his post as Irish chief justice, in defiance of hints that he should resign, until he was 87. When he was 86 it was suggested to him very strongly by the Lord Lieutenant that he ought to go, but the negotiations were broken off by Norbury challenging the envoy to fight. His rambling and irrelevant comment often annoyed curran. Once when he was mauling on he was interrupted by a sound which he really heard but which was really the braying of a donkey. "What noise is that?" he asked. "Nobility an echo of the court, my lord," replied Curran gravely.
Another judge called Fletcher, a very surly person, said to counsel, "Sir, I'll not here to be beat by the bear dog to the stake." "No; not tied, my lord," was the suave interruption.—Westminster Gazette.
Talk the Fountain of Life.
A well-known doctor has recently propounded rather a curious theory. He says:
"Actresses and actors and all public speakers, lecturers, statesmen, politicians, professors—all live to a great age as a rule because they use their lungs. The average person doesn't breathe properly and does not make sufficient use of his lungs. Breathe as much as you can and talk as much as you can. This is the recipe for retaining an old age and remaining young."
Some one whispered: "Now I see why women generally live longer than men. They talk more."

Wealth in Japan.
According to a list compiled in Tokio, there are in the whole empire only 1,013 Japanese who are worth a quarter of a million dollars or more. The population of Japan is about 51,000,000, the most of them poor, the wealth being distributed among a few people. But the list shows that the Japanese are getting rich rapidly, as there were only 411 rich Japanese ten years ago. At the rate they are now going it is more than likely that in a few years Japan will have rich men to spare.
The Rural View.
Farmer Solomon—Well, there's another Willy my boy bought a farm back here and gone to raising chickens. He's got over a thousand of 'em!
Farmer Hardacre—Gosh! He must be a good writer to support so many hens at that!—Puck.
THEIR OWN PECULIAR SPELLING.
There are some publications which pride themselves on the peculiarity of their spelling. The Revue des Deux-Mondes still clings to the orthography current at the time of its foundation, over a century ago. In its pages "savants" always figure as "savans," and "documents" as "documens." The Times, too, invariably spells "connexion" thus and the Edinburgh Review insists on slipping a superfluous "e" into "development."—London Chronicle.

C. A. Glossner, 24 Ontario St., Rochester, N. Y., has recovered from a long and severe attack of kidney trouble, his cure being due to Foley Kidney Pills. After detailing his case, he says: "I am only sorry that I did not learn sooner of Foley Kidney Pills. In a few days' time my backache completely left me and I felt greatly improved. My kidneys became stronger, dizzy spells left me, and I was no longer annoyed at night. I feel 100 per cent better since using Foley Kidney Pills." Sold by T. H. McGee.
