Serve bread chips, pico de gallo

In Italy, Panini means "little breads." But at Panera Bread, it means 'hot, robust sandwiches." The hot, davor-packed sandwiches are now available in three flavors: the Chuan Pork and Ham and the unique Portobello and Mozzarelia and the Frontega Chicken.

Panini are perfectly "fastive" ways to feed your hungry fans for next Sunday's Super Bowl.

Gams day gueste will shout for more when they try soup in fresh-baked Sourdough bowl of Broccoli Cheddar and Cream of Chicken & Wild Rice or put seasonal soups in your starting line-up.

We have been been sometime of the sourdough bowls are perfect for dips, salss, cheese, and other spreads. No matter how you use the sourdough bowls, when the party's over the bowl will be eaten, Panera Bread can also help you score some extra points for the home team.

You'll have a blitz on your buffet when you serve Panera Bread fresh-tossed party saids, cookie trays, and two-foot party sandwiches. Orders should be placed at neighborhood bakery-cafes by Thursday, Jan. 25, to make sure they are ready on time for game day on Sunday, Jan. 28.

If you plan on suiting up as chef at your Super Bowl blast, Panera Bread can still help. Visit the website at www.panerabread.com for great party recipe ideas, and stop by your local bakery-cafe for

ASIAGO CHEESE BREADCHIPS

2 Asiago Cheese mini-baguettes
Several tablespoons melted butter
Garlic salt

Slice the mini-baguettes very thin (1/8th inch) and lay slices on a baking sheet. Brush slices lightly with melted butter and sprinkle them with garlic sait. Bake in a 550-degree oven for 20 minutes. Yields approximately 200 chips.

PICO DE GALLO

- 2 large fresh tomatoes 1 can whole, peeled tomatoes
- 1 fresh jalepeno pepper, minced 1/2 bunch fresh cilantro, chopped
- 1 onion, diced 1/4 ounce minced gartic
- 1/4 cup apple cider vinega
- 1/8 cup sugar
- 1/2 teaspoun ground cumin

Chop fresh tomatoes into small pieces. In a large bowl, add tomatoes to jalapeno, cilantro, onion, garlie, sugar, cumin and vinegar. Drain liquid from the can of tomatoes and chop them roughly. Add canned tomatoes to the rest of the ingredients and mix together. Cover and rofrigarate several hours or overnight before serving. Serve with breadchips.

Try these shortcuts for the game

PRNewswire - Looking for the perfect kickoff to a super party but don't have a lot of time? Don't worry - great options exist even for the time-crunched party planner.

"Quick and healthy game day recipes are a great way to get your team fueled up for the big geme," asid Ellie Krieger, registered dietitian, lifestyle counselor and television host of "Living Better."

game," said Ellic Krieger, registered dietitian, lifestyle counselor and television host of "Living Better."
"Even if your favorite team isn't playing, you can still enjoy all the action with festive, delicious and nutritious food."

Krieger and the Canned Food Alliance offer these quick and easy canned food tips for parties that last from the pre-game all the way to the post-game. With the healthy benefits and time-saving convenience of canned food, great appetizers, entrees and desserts can be prepared in half-the-time.

The Pre-Game: Countdown to kickoff

For a filling snack, silee low-fat turkey sausago into 1-inch pieces, mix with canned sauerkraut, then heat.

Just before kickoff, prepare a tasty seafood spread by mixing canned crabmeat with cocktail sauce. Serve the mixture on a celery spear.

Make a hearty chill that is sure to satisfy your crowd. Take your favorite chill recipe and make it more healifull by replacing 12 the meat with canned beans.

For easy and delicious tailgate nachos, mix one can of chill with a 1/4 cup of plain yogurt instead of sour cream. Pour over baked tortills chips and sprinkle with your favorite toppings, including canned corn, chilies and dieed tomatoes.

■ Cover a tortilla with turkey or chicken, low-fat refried beans, lettuce, avocados and canned chilles. Roll the tortilla and slice.

■ Score points with your guests by mixing canned chickpeas, lemon juice and garlie in a food processor for a quick and easy hummus. Serve with baby carrots.

■ Spice up traditional bean dip with canned sales, canned corn and canned chilles. Serve with blue corn tortilla chips on the side.

■ Don't make pizza, make pizzazi! Spread canned seasoned tomato sauce, aliced canned clives or artichokes and grated part-skim mozazerlla cheese on English muffins. Foat and Serve.
