"He played great," Shoemaker said. "He's such a beautiful young man. Of course, when they're 6-9, they're all beautiful. He passes, shoots, blocks shots and gets rebounds. He does it all."

The Vikings executed well defensively, too. Sitting in a 2-3 zone, they forced the Falcons to shoot from the outside — they were 3-of-19 — and Bortz didn't allow many good looks inside.

Back-to-back threes by Barenie and two free throws by Griffie early in the fourth cut the Farmington deficit to 44-35, but Central made seven of 11 free throws to clinch the win.
