STUFF W E CRAVE

Get to the root: Bumble and bumble's "Deeep Treatment" is a once-a-week, 20-minute protein and hydrating feast for undernourished, stressed, changed, but he chronically kinky or just plain old dry hair. It's also a now-and-then treatment for normal hair and will leave normai nair and will teave your locks softer than you can imagine. Ingredients include hydrolyzed collagen, panthenol, passion flower fruit juice and kiwi fruit extract, $10 for a 2-ounce bottle and $19 for 5-ounce size, at area hair salons.

Spirit scents: Put the winter blues at bay with scents designed to lift chilly spirits. Votivo candles impart delicious scents and are long-lasting, $19.95. You can even put away the winter blahs when you're on the road with Aroma Land's orange essential oil car diffuser, $12.95. Other aromatherapy products with spirit-boosting properties include Bath Bloomers Quenching Cream (Citrus, $6.95 for a 2-ounce jar and Demeter's Pick-Me-Up Cologne Spray in scents like orange juice, lemonade and grapefruit tea, $14.95, all at Aetheria in Ferndale.

BeautyRiot.com last week released Instant Makeover, a free software application that members can use with their own photos to sample make-up.
Instant Makeover takes less than seven minutes to download with a regular 56K modem and can then be used off-line.
Unlike other makeover applications, BeattyRiot's Instant Makeover allows members to use their own photos and immediately begin experimenting with make-up on the computer.

"Rather than a lab technician or a computer algorithm, the user creates her own personal and customized look," said Kirsten Lambertsen, BeautyRiot president. In the Celebrity Looks gallery, all it takes is a click of a mouse to try on make-up and to looks at home and without feeling obligated to buy something.

BeautyRiot.com is a portal for beauty on thusiasts that delivers content on make-up and the propers of the
