FIRST PRESBYTERIAN

Adult education: First Presbyterian Church offers several adult education selections at 10 a.m. Sunday morning:

Life at Death: Biblical and Medical Perspectives on Organ and Tissue Donation. The class will examine a variety of topics, including on Oct. 21, the discussion will center on bone marrow transplants, what it is and how you can give.

Christianity: The Second Thousand Years. Based on a video series produced by A&E television network, this class will present a panoramic journey through 10 centuries of belief and conflict.

God Saves a People: Beginning with the saving of the Hebrews from slavery, this class will trace the saving grace of God through the desert to a new land, deliverance from exile, God's new act of salvation in Jesus Christ, God's deliverance of the early church and his continuing work today.

Parent Place: A class for parents of church school-age children, the discussion will focus on understanding other world religions and cultural diversity.

The church is on the northwest corner of 11 Mile and Farmington roads. Call for further information at (248) 474-6170.

FARMINGTON UNITARIAN CHURCH

Services, Sunday School and nursery school at 9 and 11 a.m. 26301 Haledale (north of Grand River). For more information: call (248) 478-7272 or visit the web site www.ufarmington.org.

On Sunday evening, Oct. 14, the church will install the Rev. Alexander Riegel as minister. This process began last year when the ministerial search committee recommended the Rev. Riegel's calling, which the congregation executed by casting votes at the May congregational meeting. The installation is a more formal, ceremonial process in which the congregation and the minister confirm their covenant to each other. The ceremony will be attended by members of the congregation, local interfaith clerics, and regional UU representatives.

BIRMINGHAM TEMPLE

On Oct. 21, the topic will be Reluctant Allies: America is searching for allies in the battle against terrorism, especially in the Muslim world. Developing a global coalition is essential to an effective resistance. Building this coalition will require compromise. On Oct. 22, the topic will be Fighting Terrorism: What is the most effective way for Americans to combat the scourge of terrorism?

The Monday forum is open to the public. It begins at 8:30 p.m. Fee is $2 for members and $6 for non-members. The Birmingham Temple is at 28611 W. 12 Mile in Farmington Hills. Call 477-1410 for more information.

JCC upgrades Web site

The Jewish Community Center of Metropolitan Detroit has upgraded and updated its Web site, www.jccdet.org.

The web site contains information about facilities, programs and services at both JCC locations: the D. Dan and Betty Kahn building on the Eugene and Marcin Applebaum Jewish community campus in West Bloomfield and the Jimmy Prentis Morris building on the A. Alfred Taubman Jewish community campus in Oak Park. The site includes class listings, special events, contact information and more.

The site is divided into interest areas to facilitate quick and easy navigation, and a search engine is available. Users can click on tabs to find information about Jewish education, cultural arts, travel, child care and the JCC summer camps.

Those who go to the site can learn about special needs services, older adult programs and activities for new Americans by clicking the specialty programs tab.

The site is available seven days a week, 24 hours a day.

For more information regarding the Web site, contact JCC marketing director Heidi Press at (248) 432-5409.
