Baptist Services Next Sunday

At the Farmington Baptist church Sunday, May 19, B. J. Klump will give an illustrated talk. Subject, "Son Remember or Heaven or Hell." Frederick Kirkhoff of the First Baptist church of Pontiac will sing. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

Those who attend the services at the Baptist church are under great obligations to Mr. Klump for his own work and the musical assistance he brings with him every Sunday. It is a rare treat to hear the gospel sung by trained consecrated voices such as Mr. Connell and J. Klump possess. It is worth the effort to be in attendance rain or shine.

Notice

It is earnestly desired that people will attend to their cemetery lots early this year, thereby giving the sexton time to clean the alleys after their work is done. In the past much of the private work has been done immediately before Decoration day, the alleys being left in a littered and unsightly condition at a time when it is especially desirable that everything should be in good order.

OPTICAL DELUSION.

Three novices were experimenting with a bicycle, and after a good deal of practice one of them corkscrewed along the road and passed out of sight around a corner.

As he did not return, his two friends formed a search party, but no trace of their companion could they discover. Meeting an old woman, they inquired if she had seen a man on a bicycle.

"A whiff?" asked the dame.

"A man on a bicycle?" she repeated.

"No, na," said she. "I've seen nae man at a' except a man in the ditch mendin' umbrellas."—Idema.

SHOWN THE DIGNITY OF WORK

Sensible Mother is Instilling into Children the Joy That Comes of Labor Well Performed.

It is very difficult to interest little folks in a neighborhood in the home, however commendable, task of assisting in the household duties when one "looked up to" and admired child in that community "doesn't have to do anything." Even the best trained ten-year-old will become strangely supercilious and patronizing when required to take any part in dish washing or dusting if one infant is waiting in beautiful idleness for her to come out and play.

The dignity of work, the splendid capability of those who do it well, and the joy of it can be taught even to the younger folk.

Here several little girls are banded together not by badge or sign, but by friendly ties, to do some useful tasks, helping in good cheer, being part of the life in their own home, and thus earning the hours in which they may do as they choose. One mother started it, one ten-year-old girl is copartner, three others make the corners in which their mothers try to make home.

It is becoming unpopular to be idle. Time hangs heavy on the hands of the "don't have to" class.

is not always made from good flour. Sometimes, quite often, in fact, the fault is with the cook. But while poor bread is often made of good flour, good bread is never made of poor flour.
