

Praise for Mom on her day

You Are So Great

Mom you are so great
 You work so hard for me
 You love me a lot
 You put a Band-Aid on my knee
 I know you like to roller blade
 And I know you like to bike
 You like to take Bogey with us
 When we go on a hike
 She gets mad at me
 When I don't clean my room
 So she will give me a trash can
 And a broom
 We like to go shopping
 At the mall
 We go to the pet store
 To get a ball

My mom is so sweet
She calls me honey
I love her a lot
She makes a lot of money

In My Heart

Perfectionist, caring, gentle, kind,
 Relative of Morgan, and Dennis, Lover of children, husband, and stamping
 Who feels happy, sad, and sometimes angry.
 Who needs compassion, understanding and computers.
 Who gives love, laughter, and inspiration to do my best.
 Who fears her children being hurt and nothing else that shows.
 Who would like to see my sister and me stop bickering.
 Residing in my heart for all eternity.
 Mother.

Mom

You make my life so interesting,
Giving me advice on everything.

You take me places I want to go.
You tell me things I did not know.

When I look at how much fun we have together,

I know that we'll be friends forever and ever.

There are things that we fight about.
But we always work them out.

As I write this poem to you,
I want you to know

That I love you

My Mom

You see my mom is the best,
But, let's put her to the test.
I once came home from school with the flu,
She made me comfortable and did all she could do.
I once came home all stressed out,
I was upset and started to pout.
She sat me down and asked about my day,
I talked to her and she listened to all I had to say.
She supports my decisions good or bad.
She loves me when I'm happy or sad.
She is definitely an angel sent from above,
To share her caring, sharing and love.
To help me through the rough times in life.
Even the ones that cut like a knife.
But through it all she'll stand by me,
And a girl I'll ever be.
I love my mom so much.
And that love is something that you can never touch!

Photo

Photo It is mid-June, a hot day, with the sun shining, glistening over the water. Trees away in the reassuring landscape are green. The people at the beach as did the people who were everywhere, some I hardly knew, could barely see their own names. Yet there was a bond, as there is every year when we're joined together — by the marriage, and collaboration of rich milk chocolate chocolatea brownies, barbecued ribs and aged Irish whiskey. But that year a moment in time was frozen by a flash. Together, as we talked under the warm kisses of light, sun reflecting off her face and mine, the way a mirror projects one's image, my mother and I turned, smiles bright, sun-applashed faces pressed together.

It could disown my brother — who's not my brother, five minutes my sister, separated by mere seconds — and no one would question, but my mother and I, with years of life between us, are almost identical — twins some would say — reinforced by the annunt comments, the demand, "you look like your mother" — and by this fragile photo, a gateway to the past, glimpse into the present, and an insight for the future.

Always There

Always there
My mom
She's wonderful
She's great
She's beautiful
And even full of care
But not all of those Matters in the least
Unless she's there
Just for me
She's there for me
To hold me when I'm down
To laugh when I'm happy
To be my soup when I'm sick
My mom is always there for me
Even on the hardest days
Of my life
I need her to be there
I need her to be there
To watch me grow
To encourage or disapprove
And help me to become a woman
My mom is so many things
So many I can't describe
But I know what she is to me
And I always will She's my mother
Beautiful, brave
Full of life
And full of love
My mother is all those things
And so much more
I don't know everything about her
But I know you
And I love you

She will always be there for me
No matter what
No other matter
Could take her place

She's one of a kind
Someone special
Someone that does things a certain way
A way no one else can do

I love my mom
And I know she loves me
I don't know what I'd do
If I ever lost her
I'd be lost too

She'll always be there
Even just for me.

My Mother

My mother; where I came from Your love will forever stay Mythical creatures she protected me from Over and over she sings songs, To O
The best since I was a tot
Her skills are helpful in math
Excuses I shall seldom use Restfulness really represents her.

Making My Dream Come True

Making My Dream Come True
 Making I never thought you
 For I've made the things I've done
 For turning me into a woman
 You'll always be number one
 From soocer to school
 I've made my life whole
 You gave me my body
 But most importantly my soul
 You tucked me in at night -
 And stopped me from crying
 But never gave up on me
 But always keep on trying You've made many sacrifices
 To always put me first
 Tried to test my broken wings
 Even though it hurt
 You painted my world with hope
 When it was filled with broken dreams
 Helped me understand growing up
 When nothing's what it seems
 I want to thank you
 For your love, support and tears
 For guiding me along this path
 From fourteen to twenty I hope I've made you proud of what I have become Don't think any other come
 Didn't do the job you've done
 Thank you for the little things
 For everything you do
 But think you most of all
 For making my dream come true
 No one else,
Farrington Hill

Memorandum

Of all the work you have ever done, you never get to have some fun.
Laundry, dishes, mopping too, even when you get the flu.
To lay down and sleep or even relax, you never get one single chance.
Running, running is all you do, you never have time for something new.
You never get a helping hand, all we do is play in the sand.
But even if you did not do the work you do, please remember we always
LOVE YOU.

No Friend Like Mother

There is no friend like a mother who cheers us on our way.
A mother is like a dove,
Who never forgets her love.
There will be a new day for us to say
Happy Mothers Day.

Emily Clark,
Farmington Hills

What Is A Member?

What Is a Mom?
 Mom does not mean 'Made of Money',
 She is not one your dad calls 'honey'.
 If you are a kid, she'll pull you together,
 And give you a kiss to make it all better.
 She can help 'put food on the table',
 And teach you how, once you are able.
 They can teach you about all life,
 And tell you any sibling stuff.
 They always look out for you,
 There is nothing they can't do!
 Mothers never seem to rest,
 They push you to be your best.
 Every year there is one day,
 Mothers can have their own way.
 They deserve it, don't you see,
 They support the whole family.
 Mothers love you, they're more than just a friend,
 Mothers are perfect, so there!
 The End.

Nick Hanson,
Farmington Hills

The Meaning of a Mother

Moms are lifesavers,
But not the candy,
Even though they are as sweet.
Moms were invented to love,
And to stop the burning of our hot-boos,
And to help us comfort, and care.
The word "mom" is a palindrome.
So when we're small we can't get the letters mixed up,
And our moms can be proud if that we can spell.
Although at times they may not feel Moms are always appreciated,
They can do everything.
Moms can make you feel better,
Whether it's emotionally or physically.
Moms somehow have the power.
Sometimes teenagers fight with their moms,
And words are flying like no other,
But at they speak and say they mean it, they know inside they don't.
Sometimes when I get mad at
my mom,
wonder what would happen if she wasn't there?
And that's when I try to get over my frustration.
Although some may not know the true definition of a mom, Everybody knows what it's like to be loved by one.
I love you Mom.
