Spiritual Treasures

The stoic philosophers were fond of saying that it is not things which disturb us, but rather our view of things. If your favorite cup is broken, you can view this as a tragic occurrence, or you can view it with stoic calmness and tell yourself that cups will be broken; in the grand scheme of things, it is just a cup. As people of faith, we should view these sorts of things as lessons about our attachment to material objects. Just as favorite cups will sometimes be dropped and broken, so too our bodies, and everything in this material world, will eventually be "broken" or suffer the corruption and decay that afflicts all matter. Of all the things we possess, only one will go with us on our journey into eternity - our soul. Therefore, take care of your soul, nurture it, and worry not about your material possessions.

But we have this treasure in earthen vessels, to show that the transcendent power belongs to God and not us.
R.S.V. 2 Corinthians 4:7
