

Hills woman talks about succeeding in man's world

Farmington Hills resident, Sheryl Maibach, will share her insight on how to succeed in a male-dominated environment at the Wednesday, July 10, 2002 meeting of the Detroit-Windsor chapter of Executive Women International.

The meeting will begin at 5:30 p.m. and will be held at the Bloomfield Open Hunt Club located at 405 East Long Lake Road, Bloomfield Hills, Michigan.

Cost is $28 and reservations can be made by contacting Raquel Parlow, the Stroh Companies, Inc., at 313/446-2509. Maibach is vice president of marketing for the billion-dollar architecture, construction and technology services firm, Barton Malow.

She is responsible for planning, sales, public relations, graphic design and corporate communications.

The youngest daughter in a family of eight siblings, Maibach had many examples to follow but instead carved her own path.

While a demanding schedule is a fact of her life, she remains practical about taking time to appreciate life.

Maibach is a fellow in the Society for Marketing Professional Services and has served as the chapter President in Michigan.

She has published more than 20 marketing related articles and has won numerous awards for marketing and public relations accomplishments.

Established in 1938, EWI supports

Women in Transition around the world. The Detroit-Windsor chapter of EWI is the only joint-international chapter of EWI and gained its charter in 1968.

The chapter strives to promote member firms, enhance personal and professional development and encourage community involvement through philanthropic activities.

Today, more than 3,500 companies and 4,000 representatives are members of EWI in 85 chapters located in major cities in the United States, Canada, and Europe

EWI is the premier organization for networking and leadership development for today's professional businesswomen and their firms.

Drawing gives grandparents quality time with grandkids

Are you ready for a Mackinac Island summer get-away with your grandchildren?

The Farmington Downtown Development Authority is giving away a two-night, three-day vacation, with registrations being taken at downtown businesses throughout the month of June.

"Downtown Farmington visitors should come to any of the participating downtown stores and restaurants, locate one of our displays and simply fill out and then leave an entry card with the display," said DDA Director Judy Downey.

The drawing will be held at the DDA office at 9 a.m. on June 28.

The contest is not limited to grandparents; anyone may enter.

However, the DDA chose this theme for a special reason.

"We want to acknowledge and support quality relationships between grandparents and grandkids," said Ronald G. Oglesby, DDA president. "In essence, we believe quality time together is really important for grandparents and grandkids. And, we'd like that quality time to take place in downtown Farm-

"If we could afford it," he added, "we'd offer a million vacations."

The package does include two-bedroom accommodations at Mission Point Resort, three breakfasts and one dinner for four, bicycle rental, admission to Fort Mackinac, a horse-drawn hayride and transportation to and from the island resort.

Other drawing prizes include tickets to the Farmington Civic Theatre, breakfast and lunch certificates redeemable at downtown restaurants.
