The team sponsor is Environmental Quality Co. of Wayne, which specialize in onvironmental cleanup, disposal and hazardous westermangement.

Rob Weatley, vice-president of sales and industrial services for Environmental Quality Co., came up with the Team EQ sponsorship.

Rob is a huge cycling fan, "Champoux said. "Hô's a former triathiete who played football at Ohio State," Transact was played toxical as Ohio State."

Team EQ members pay their own expenses to races throughout the midwest and Canada, while also competing for prize while also competing for prize money.

The Michigan Road Racing Series consists of approximately 12 races with points awarded to the top 10 finishers. Points are doubled for the state championship series races. And just like in NASCAR, the highest point total at the end of the senson determines the series champion. Based on ability, races are divided into several categories including CATs 1-2 (pro/semi-professional), along with 3-4-5. Along with the open division, competitors are also divided into masters (nges 35-45, 45-55 and 55-plus) and juniors (10-12, 13-14, 15-1, 17-18). The state team time trials took place last weekend at Stony Creek Metropark. And this month, Team EQ is also looking forward to the state criterium (in Midland), the 90-mile state road race (July 28 in Grand Blanc) and the season-ending Labor Day weekend events (Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 31-Sept. 1) in Ann Arbor, downtown Detroit and Windsor.

The group normally gets togother at 6:30 p.m. each Wednesday out BikeSport of Dearborn, which provides parts and service to the club. The course usually winds through Rouge Park, by the Southfield Freeway and into Hines Park (about 25 miles).

"We hope next year to add about five or ten more team members," said Champoux, and Eastern Michigan University graduate who originally got started in riding when he com-peted in triathlons. Among the team's mountain bikers are Mike Gardulski, Can-ton's Dave Krenk, Jim Martin, Westland's Ken O'Day and John Woitala.

Other cyclists in addition to Champoux, Taormina and Heirtzler are Gene Bolen, the No. 1-ranked 36-39 year-old triathlete in Michigan; Gene Faes, Britt Michel and Ron Fraser.

Krenk and O'Day, who just turned 40, compete in both cycling and mountain bike events.

"We also compete in a 24-hour team mountain bike race in Traverse City." Champoux said. "We're also inspired by local professional cyclists such as Frankie Andreu (who has competed in the Tour de France) and Kirk O'Bee."

Team EQ also relies on the help of several other local sponsors including BikeSport; American Legion Post No. 396, which provides helmets; and IstCOM of Waterford, which offers inter-net service and team home page not service and team home page (www.team.eq.com).

National sponsors such as Rudy Project (sunglasses), Morping Packs, and Champion Nutrition give Team EQ also sid in discounted products.
Beginning at 8 a.m. Sunday, Aug. 11, Team EQ and the Cycling Saddlemen of Dearborn will stage the Hines Park Time Trial, a 12-mile (20K) out-and-back course, which runs from Outer Drive to Farmington Road and back.

Outer Drive to Farmington Road and back.

The event will be held under a U.S. Cycling Federation permit and offers both a team (two-person) and individual time trials for men in women in five different categories including seniors/master ($20 fee) and juniors ($16). The cost for the two-person event is $20 per team.

The preregistration deadline is Saturday, Aug. 3. All fees increase $5 the day of registration. For more information, call (313) 278-7009 or visit www.lmb.org/saddle.
