CAMPUS PIPELINE

Daren Lee, son of Gordon and Karen Lee, of Northville, and a student at University of Michigan, has been selected to participate in a unique international work experience, called the Pechiney E-Reporter Program, during 2002. The Pechiney group, an international manufacturer with core businesses in aluminum and packaging, is committed to recruiting exceptional students from selected universities in the United States and Europe. In the United States, the program includes summer internships at five U.S. company locations and one French location. Daren's internship is with Supply Chain (Purchasing), Pechiney Plastic Packaging, Chicago. A member of the class of 2003, he plans to graduate with a bachelor's degree in industrial and operations engineering. On assignment for Pechiney, the e-reporters will use various media to file Internet reports on the diverse activities, innovative technologies, and company culture and image from locations around the world. In teams of four, they also will chronicle the activities of 10 senior managers and report on the company's strategy of selective and profitable growth, its markets and customers. This year, more than 300 students around the world applied to the award-winning E-Reporter Program, and just 40 applicants were chosen. To learn more about Pechiney, meet the 2002 e-reporters and read their reports, visit the web site at www.recruit.pechiney.com.

Erika Martinez of Harrison High School in Farmington Hills recently received one of four 2002 DaimlerChrysler Scholarships. She attended the Oakland Schools Technical Campus Northeast and the scholarships were awarded to students who successfully completed the course work in the Manufacturing Technology Academy and had been recommended by their instructors, school district and community. The awards were announced at the recent Fourth Annual Completion Ceremony for MTA at Oakland Community College Auburn Hills Campus. "We are very proud of this year's students," said Mary Kaye Aulice, director of Career-Focused Education for Oakland Schools in a release.
