

Dr. Sol Cogan of HealthQuest Chiropractic Centers checks on a Lions player at a recent home game in Detroit.

Lions get a little help from local HealthQuest

The Detroit Lions have chosen Farmlington-based Health Quest as their official provider of chiropractic services.

The company is one of the largest chiropractic organizations in the country and is Michigan's leading chiropractic organization with 11 offices that handle more than 100,000 office visits a year, said owner.

handle more than 100,000
office visits a year, said owner
Dr. Sol Cogan.
In this new assignment, HealthQuest Chiropractic doctors join the team of medical doctors and trainers responsidoctors and trainers responsi-ble for treating and managing the care of the team.

HealthQuest doctors are present at all Lions practices and all home and away games.

Cogan said athletics and the benefits of chiropractic care is something he experienced first-its of chiropractic care is thing he experienced firsthand.

"I had a wrestling injury in high school," he said. "Every doctor I saw said I could not compete anymore."
As a last resort, he went to a chiropractor, he said.

"It not only helped me to compete, but since then I've run a bunch of marathons," he

"I've always been into sports and we're the largest practice in Michigan," Cogan said of the collaboration with the football team. "I figured we could help them and they decided they wanted to work with an organi-zation like ours."

Cogan said most professional football teams use chiroprac-football teams use chiropractors.

"We help them with any pain or problems, especially to the spine or shoulders, he said.

"Most athletes, when their spine is in better alignment, they move better."

The HealthQuest organization has local offices in Exeminator, a Rechester Hills. Farmington, Rochester Hills, Livonia, Southfield, Troy and

Taylor. Call them at (877) 99QUEST

Join in Northwestern's 'food fight' ■ Guitar Center, 29555

Northwestern Highway businesses in Farmington Hills, Southfield are engaging in a food fight against hungs.

nesses in Farmington Hills, Southfield are engaging in a flood fight against hunger.

The food-raising competition, sponsored by Merrill Lynch, involves Northwestern Highway businesses between 12 and 14 Mile roads. Cash donations brought in to the locations will benefit the Food Bank of Oaldand County. What makes this a "food fight" is that each participating business, eategorized by number of employees, competes within that group to collect the most donations. Collections are also welcome from anyone shopping or doing business in the area. The Food Fight runs through Friday, Nov. 8.

Collection barrels can be mis, Southieu mield locations:

■ Merrill Lynch, 32255
Northwestern, ≈260
■ Vineyard Café & Nibbles,
32418 Northwestern
■ Cronin's Party Store, 29476
Northwestern, Southfield
■ Darakjian Jewelers, 29333
Northwestern, Southfield
■ Franklin Racquet, 29350
Northwestern, Southfield

orthwestern, Southfield ■ Little Daddy's Parth

Southfield

Exclusive Fitness, 33026

Northwestern, West Bloomfield

Prudential Securities, 7031

Orchard Lake Rd. *101, West

The Prudential Securities, 7031 Orchard Lake Rd. #101, West Bloomfield
The Northwestern Highway event was inspired by the annual Troy Food Fight on Big Beaver, which has collected more than 1 million pounds of food since its 1995 inception. All donated food is distributed to more than 73,000 people monthly through FBOC.
To register as a participant, contact the Food Bank of Oakland County at (248) 332-

Contact the Food Dalla of Oakland County at (248) 332-

Heve an opinion you'd like to share with your neighbors? Write a letter to the the ditor at The Observer, 33411 Grand River, Farmington, MI 48335

Band takes first place at Durand

Finishing off their Michigan competition season at the Durand Invitational Oct. 26, the Harrison Marching Bando once again captured the Flight III first-place trophy for the performance of their show "Gazebo Dancest," Earning a score of 76.6, they also netted caption awards for Best Marching and Best General Effect.

Effect.
Other Observer-area bands
at the competition included
Redford Thurston, Flight III second place, 74.6; and in Flight II West Bloomfield, second, 70.60; and Westland John Glenn, third, 68.15.

"They did a nice job," said Harrison Director Peggy Babcock of her 82 performers. "They marched a very clean show and the color guard had an absolutely fantastic per-formance."

an absolutely fantastic per-formance.

Senior trombonist Dan Rumbell was also pleased with his band's Saturday perform-ance. I think it went pretty well, he said. Style-wise, our show is a lot like last year's. I hink it is one of the best shows
Harrison has done.

This year's show musically and visually depicts the change of seasons and the second movement, "October," is a favorite of many of the performers, including Rumbell.

"It is a nice piece of music in general and when we put it on the field with all the color, it is really beautiful," he said. "This show is good music," said Alex Sobolev, a senior per-cussionist. "It is probably the most sophisticated music we've layed in my four years with the band. Each of the shows the band. Each of the shows has gotten more physical and more musical. They kind of evolve. That means we have to work harder to get even better." The band will be performing at Harrison's Band-O-Rama at Harrison's Band-O-Rama concert at 7:30 p.m. in the school's auditorium on Nov. 6 before heading off to the Bands of America Grand National Championships at the RCA Dome in Indianapolis Nov. 14-16.

Falcons show championship style in season

For the Farmington Falcon Marching Band, it's all about doing your best and improving with each successive perform-

And that's exactly what they achieved at the Huron Valley Invitational at Lakeland High School in White Lake on

School in White Lake on Saturday.

"The kids performed really, really well," said Farmington Director Norman Logan. "They were really happy with their performance and with their

The 100 Farmington marchers took Flight II fifth place with a score of 68.35 for their jazzy performance, "Cuban Fire," a lively and colorful eight-minute production. The score reflected a more than 10-point jump from the previous weeks 58.25 at the John Glenn Invitational in Westland.

The best part about that was that the band just simply didn't give up, noted Logan. They were as classy as they could be right to the end of the season. I was really proud of them.

right to the end of the season. I was really proud of them. That's what we believe being a championship band is all about – doing your best and having your last performance be your best performance." Even though they won't be going to the state contest this year, Saturday's performance wasn't the last folks will hear from their hometown champi-ons. The band will be featured at Band-O-Rama on Friday, Nov. B at the Farmington High School auditorium. The entire music program including the music program including the vocal department will be performing.

"It is a thank you for the people in the community, said Logan. Those who participated in Tag Days received a ticket for free admission to the extravaganza. The event begins at 7:30 p.m. and tickets will also be

SONIC raids day care center/drug house

Farmington Hills police offi-cers participated in a recent drug raid at a Detroit home that apparently served double duy-child care center by day and a drug trafficking base by night. The Hills police officers raided the house late Friday, Nov. 1 as part of the South Oakland Narcotics Intelligence Consortium, which also includes officers from West Bloomfield, Novi and the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

Sheriff's Department.
Seized during the raid was a

7, pound of marijuana, a scale and plastic baggies, which had been concealed in ceiling tiles at the northwest Detroit home on Annehester, according to Chuck Nebus, Hills assistant police chief.

Chuck Nebus, Hills assistant police chief.

"There was a day care center running out of the basement of the home," he said.

The Michigan Department of Consumer & Industry Services Bureau of Family Services Friday issued a suspension order and notice of intent to revoke the day care & license. The business, called Wayne County Family Day Care, and its proprietor were ordered to stop providing child care effective 6 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 31.

Further, the owner, who has not been arrested or charged with any crime, has been ordered not to operate any other child care centers, according to the CIS. Wayne County Family Day Care had been officially registered for six children since Feb. 21.
The investigation by SONIC and by Detroit police and Wayne County Sheriff's deputies continues.

deputies continues.

- By Heather Needharr

nine big names

seven short days

original works available for purchase from private collections featuring nine premier artists

November 9th thru 19th

special wine and hors d'ocuvres reception Saturday, November 9th 6:00 - 9:00

15200 E. Jefferson Avenue - Grosse Pointe Park, M1, 48230 Tues, Wed & Fri 11:00-6:00 Thurs 11:00-7:00 & Sat 12:00-5:00

[313] 822-1500