Preventing and Healing Heart Disease in Women. "Were always looking for something different to do's and Stark. "Were trying to accommo-date the entire community to give them a broad hase to select from." Karen Tintori's book should be a hit with myrone interested in a good story. Trapped: The 1909 Cherry Mine Dissater is not only true but hits close to home for the West Upomfield resident. Tintori talks about the experience of penning the nonfiction 10 a.m. Monday, Nov. 11. "It's a finnily story" said Tintori. - I never knew my grandfahlter. He died before I was born. My grandfahlter but I never knew my grandfahlter. Cherry Mine disaster but I never knew miest about it. Then when I was in my 405 I startd doing Reconsidy instance in Cherry Illingie. It doing genealogy and came across information about the mine disaster in Cherry, Illinois. It blew me away. It was the worst coal mine fire in this country, I was amazed outside of Chicago no one knew about this. "It's a story of cowardive, a story of heroism, Four hundred eighty men and boys went to work on Saturday. By noon, a fire broke out. Two hundred fifty-nie lost their lives including boys, Twenty of 21 who scaled themselves off survived for a week without food or water. It's a triumph of the human spirit. It's unbellevable. During the 10 years Tintori spent collecting information on the disaster, there were specific moments that brought it to life. A visit to the mine site left her with mixed feelings. Workers compensation laws were a positive result of the disaster and inquiry that followed but Tintori couldn't help putting hereel in the place of the victims' families. "There was one mistake after another," said Tintori, "It left 460 orphans. I was standing at the mine a fit os to misgine how the women and children felt seeing their loved ones entombed a strey tried to smother the fire by cementing over the shaft."
