THURSDAY March 6, 2003 75 cents

icicic.hometownlife.com

ES DIWE

The Oetroi International Wine Experience, a benefit for the St. Vincent and Sarah Fisher Center in Farmington Hills, will present approrimately 400 wine entires from around the world to a prestigious panel of judges Saturday, March 29.

Wine specialists from many disciplines, including restaurateurs, sommeliers, retailers, chest and journal-centailers. Acts and journal-retailers, chefs and journal ists, will choose the medal winners in a blind judging, followed by an After Flow reception open to the public. The events will take place at Schoolcraft College in

The Aller Flow, held 6-8-30 p.m., will be followed by an hour of "Collee & Comedy." The evening will also include enlertalment, hors d'oeuvres, silent auction and a sampling of 400 world*class wines. Lickets are $35 per person and ran be purchased by calling (586) 795-2664 or via Internet, www localwinevents competition include Madeline Triffon, Unique Restaurant Corporation's master sommelier, Marshall Chin, Mon Jin tau, Kristin Jonna. Marchant's Tien Wine; Ray and Eleanor Heald, Observer and Eccentic Hewspapers wine columnists, and more, in addition to SVSTC, proceeds will also benefit the Children's Center and The Alter Flow, held 6-8.30 reeds will also benefit The Children's Center and Schoolcraft College Culinary Salon Team. For more infor-mation, visit www.detroitwi-peexperience.com.

🛤 Travel Michigan

BY Travel Michigan
Marc Layre & Co. has been named public relations firm of record for Travel Michigan,
the state of Michigan's Official agency for the promotion of tourism and a division of the Michigan Conomic Development Corp.
The announcement mass
made by agency partners
Frederick Marn, Michael Layre and Don Tanner.
Travel Michigan and markets
the state's tourism industry
and provides valuable comprehensive visitor information services Travel Michigan also maintains information, boasting 2.5
million user sessions in 2002.
Founded in 1997.
Farmington Hills-based Marx
Layres & Co. is a sone of

Founded in 1987.
Farmington Hills-based Marx
Layne & Co. is among the Midwest's leading independently owned public relations lirms.

Paula Rohn is ready to drive away in her red Chrysler convertible.

Driving essons

FHS math teacher wins Suburban's special award

After almost two hours of test driving cars at Suburban Honda in Farmington Hills, Farmington High School math teacher Paula Rohn made her selec-tion — a 2004 red Chrysler Sebring convertible. And driving that sporty new car for the next year wont cost her much more than the gas required to run it.

For the first time this year, car dealers from the Suburban Collection offered special recognition to selected Teachers of the Year in communities where they have dealerships by providing use of a car.
Call it a step above the proverbial apple for the

Call it a step above the proverbial apple for the teacher.

After the surprise announcement Tuesday at Parmington High School, Superintendent Bob Maxfield whisked the excited Rohn off in his car to Suburban Honda to select a car.

"It couldn't come at a better time," said Rohn, whose van has 170,000 miles on it.

The award came as a complete surprise: she didn't even realize she'd been nominated. Parmington Schools honors three teachers of the year, one at each level (elementary, middle and high school). Students aid Rohn always comes to school wearing a smile, she's positive and they just adore her.

Coming to the Farmington school district was a lucky more for her, Rohn said, She remembered difficulty years working as a young tracher in the Wayne

Cities say add-ons pay for systems

Farmington tacks on nearly 150

Farmington tacks on nearly 150 percent.
Farmington Hills throws on another 61 percent.
According to a recent media campaign, high water bills aren't just Defroit's fault.
After more than a year of published reports about poor management and complaints about increased costs and who should control its operations, the Detroit Water and Seewarge Department is apparently fighting back. A full-page informational and Sunday naked, What's the truth about your water bill? and listed their basic rate to cities, as well as the charge cities tack on to the bill. Local officials agree the numbers are right, but once the water is brought in from Detroit, if's each city's responsibility to maintain the water supply and sewers—and it's not cheap.
According to the list, Farmington is charged $17.16 per 7.500 gallons of water and sewer

MERSESSE SYSTEMS, A5

Board approves shared-time plan

Farmington school board members unanimously approved a controversial shared-time plan with Our Lady of Sorrows Thesday. The agreement would place public school teachers in the Catholic private school's classrooms to teach art, music and physical education. The teachers would be hired under contract terms set by the tract terms set by the Farmington Education Association.

Shared-time would affect 930 students in grades 1-8.

Both OLS Monsignor Walter Hurley and OLS Principal Jim Watson attended the meeting. Neither spoke about the plan, and there was no comment from the public. Hurley simply thanked the board after its vote. Board member Cathy Webb made the motion to approve the plan, supported by Pam Christian. Board members Priscilla Brouillette and Jack Inch, who voted against the conceptual plan last year, cast their votes in favor but offered no comments.

Frank Reid said it was an interesting process for him because he is both an OLS parishioner and an FPS school board member.

"We've heard from people speaking passionately on both sides of this issue," Reid said. 'Many of them are friends of mine, I understand all the vari-ous viewpoints expressed on this matter."

this matter."
The one-year, renewable agreement can be ended if shared-time doesn't prove beneficial. "I believe this is in the best interests of children," Reid said.

said.

Board Member Gary Sharp, an attorney, believes the plan addresses all aspects in the separation of church and state issue. He has reviewed various legal cases and noted. To addition, we've had case have reviewed by outside counsel. The decision to pursue a shared-time agreement must be made by the parish and archidocese and not by school parents alone, said board President Linda Enberg. "Personally, I've seen sufficient support at the parish level for this plan. Enberg said.

She referenced a survey privately funded by parishioner

MEASE SEE SHARED, AS

Maintenance facility for Hills parks opens

It's not so much the decor that Farmington Hills Parks and Recreation maintenance staff enjoy about their new facility. Now they've got some elbow

Now they're got some cibow room. Lecated at the end of Interchange Drive just south of 11 Mile Road in Farmington Hills, the new building was constructed on what special Services Director Dave Boyer called a "challenging" site. It's adjacent to the newly expanded San Marino Golf Course, on the 11 Pines property. In fact, the facility sits on top of a former landfill that comprised 23 acres of the 90-plus acre site at 11 Mile and Halsted Roads. In addition to a main office building, there are two large bays for equipment and vehicle storage and maintenance. "The city established a brownfield, so we were able to capture some of the cost with tax dollars. Boyer said. State law allows the capture of tax dollars to help pay for clean-up costs in contaminated areas designated as "brownfields" by local governments. Boyer noted the city also took steps to protect a nearby wetland. The focus on environmental quality also extends to the building itself.

MEASE SEE PARKS, AS

BAL BRESLER ! STAFF PHOTOGRA

The Parks & Recreation Maintenance facility opened for business with a Feb. 24 ribbon cutting, Mayor Nancy Bates and Parks & Rec Commission chair Paul Jacokes did the honors.

CONTACT US

HomeTown

INDEX

Jobs
Movies
Obituaries
Real Estate
Service Guide Apartments Arts Automotive Classified G4 B1 H1 E,F,G,H G3 C5

LOOKING AHEAD

Schoolcraft's new digs In Sunday's Taste section: The VistaTech Center at Schoolcraft College will be open for Instruction soon for culinary arts students.

Been surfing lately?

Walt until you see what's on our website-grab your mouse and check it out!

www.observer and eccentric.com