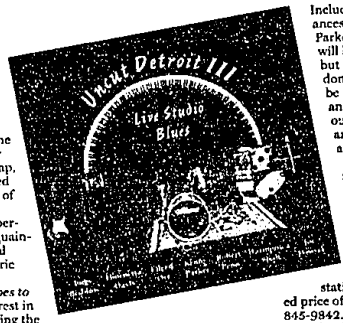
Artists sing the blues in new CD featuring local talent

BY EILEEN MCCARVILLE
STAFF WRITER



Blues is a genre that often doesn't get the credit it deserves, perhaps because it's so low-key.

Surrounded by the popularity of hyper rock and raucous rap, it's long been shoved into the smokiness of Chicago barroom scenes. For some, perhaps their only acquaintance is transitional rock/blues artist Eric Clapton.

A local radio hopes to jump-start an interest in the genre by releasing the third CD in a blues anthology, featuring classic Detroit blues artists – some of them legends.

Station WHFR-FM, the independent, noncommercial radio station at Henry Ford Community College in Dearborn, presents the release of Uncut Detroit III, featuring 14 songs by seven artists: the bugs Beddow band, Thornetta Davis and Brett Lucas, Kenny Parker Band, Robert Penn Blues Band, Miz Eileen Orr and The Blues Kings and Queens, Harmonica Shah and Howard Glazer, and Joe Weaver and R.J.'s Rhythm Rockers.

"All of the artists on this CD as well as the other two in the series (Uncuts I and II) are local, metro Detroit blues artists," said Susan McGraw, general manager of WHFR.

"Blues doesn't get the recognition it truly deserves. We want to focus on our hometown people and let them show off on this particular CD."

Though all the artists have roots in the local blues community, many people don't know about them, McGraw said. "This album, as well as the other two, is a good first introduction. It's diverse and there's enough variety for people to appreciate it. We didn't sacrifice quality for diversity.

"Most of the artists have been performing all their lives. They are blues artists, through and through."

McGraw said the CD contains a good mix of "straight blues," as well as rhythm and blues, as performed by bugs Beddow.

"They would be considered the party band, getting people up to dance, where the others offer a more traditional sound." All the artists have "paid their dues," McGraw said. "They are ready to be released."

According to McGraw, each song was recorded in a single take at Roscoe's Recording studio in Detroit. The technique – unusual to the standard multi-track studio recording – provides a sound similar to a live performance, yet allows the artist to explore unique studio-music arrangements, said.

A record release party is scheduled 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Saturday, March 22, at Memphis Smoke in Royal Oak.

Included are live performances by Beddow, Orr, Parker and Shah. There will be no cover charge but direct tax-deductible donations to WHFR can be made at the door and copies of the previous two CDs, Uncuts I and II, will be available for purchase.

The new CD, released by Venture Records in Dearborn, will soon be available at local music stores. Uncut Detroit III is also available through the radio station, for the discounted price of $12, by calling (313) 845-9842.

Mail orders are also accepted. Send checks or money orders to WHFR, attention Susan McGraw, 5101 Evergreen, Dearborn, MI 48128.

The station plays a diverse mix of many music styles, but blues is actually one of the most popular, McGraw said. The artists featured on Uncuts I, II and III are "tremendous" people to work with, she said.

"They are amazing. They're like a family."

WHFR prides itself on giving a voice to unknown musicians, she said. "We play the music that is being played very little (on commercial radio stations). There are so many wonderful musicians just dying for a place to be heard. Once it gets commercial, we stop playing it. And we make room for the next new band.

"We decided over 10 years ago we would make that our mission and that's the way it is."

WHFR can be heard within a 10-15 mile radius of Dearborn, on 89.3 FM and worldwide on the Internet at www.whfr.fm. For more information, call WHFR at (313) 845-9676 or (800) 585-HFCC, Ext. 9676.

Exhibit features local photographers

Photography is about looking seeing, and grasping the potential of an image before your eyes, says Darryl Baird who juried the seventh annual Exposures photography competition at Lawrence Street Gallery in Pontiac. "The magic of the image may lie in the moment, the event, the juxtaposition of dissimilar objects, or an expression of a simple moment."

Take a look for yourself, and see the exhibit through March 28 at the gallery. Highlights are works by Laurence Diggs of Livonia, first place color, and Ken Zynda, Lake Orion, third place.

Robert Bartley of West Bloomfield won third place in the experimental category.

The exhibit includes traditional, digital
