The bride-to-be is a graduate of Western Michigan University and is employed as a circuit court probation agent with the State of Michigan.

Her fiancé is a graduate of Albion College and Wayne State College of Law. He is employed as an assistant prosecutor for the county of Kalamazoo.

Irene's Myomassology hosts holistic health festival

Irene's Myomassology Institute, located 26051 Franklin Road in Southfield, will host its second annual free Holistic Health Festival 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. Saturday, May 10. The event includes free massages, as well as classes in yoga, stress relief, Pilates, body rolling, Feng Shui, self-care for sore muscles, posture management and guided imagery.

Throughout the day, there will be lectures on intuition, vegetarianism, natural approaches to women's health, astrology and detoxification methods. In addition, experts in fitness training, chiropractic care, vegetarianism, personal development and handwriting analysis will offer advice and information. Patrons can also experience samples from the Whole Foods Market and learn about community supported agriculture.

"We are looking forward to the public coming out to our larger facility to experience a variety of holistic health techniques and all they benefit they have to offer," said Irene's Myomassology Institute Director Kathy Gauthier.

The festival's atmosphere will be complemented with soothing flute music by Ralph Kozlarski and dulciner performances by Charlene Berry. Both musicians will be giving performances throughout the day.

Additional parking will be available at Christian Tabernacle Church, just west of Irene's, where a complementary shuttle will be available throughout the event.

Irene's Myomassology Institute features a 600-hour nationally accredited massage program. Curriculum offerings include classes in Swedish massage, sports massage, Reiki and shiatsu.

The school offers community education programs in body rolling, herbolgy, yoga, aromatherapy, meditation, Pilates and vegetarian cooking. The year-old facility includes a student clinic where the public can receive affordable massage at a rate of $35 per hour.

Leah Marie Bollin

On August 18, 2001 Leah Marie was killed in an auto accident at age 22. It was determined that she suffered an epileptic seizure while driving to work. Leah had dealt with epilepsy since third grade but had been seizure free with medication for many years. Her death came just two weeks prior to her beginning her junior year at Lake Superior State University in Sault Ste. Marie, Michigan.

In honor of her spirit and determination, the Bollin family has endowed the Leah Marie Bollin Memorial Award, a fund that helps students with epilepsy and its related disorders. This award is given to students who, because of their medical and physical problems, are unable to meet the rigid academic standards. Criteria have been established to allow these students to receive a $1,000 award per year for up to four years as long as they are making progress toward their degree.

With the support of friends and family, our goal is to raise over $100,000 in order to allow four students to participate in this program each academic year.

Join us to raise money and celebrate the life of Leah Marie Bollin.

ALL proceeds go to the Memorial Award fund.

Positive Attitude slates summer camps

Positive Attitude Dance Academy of Farmington will offer a summer schedule of classes and camps. The studio offers a full range of instructional opportunities for all ages, from beginner ballet to Russian-style ballet and pointe.

The summer camp schedule includes a Mini Camp for ages 5-7 where students can experience a full range of dance forms including hip-hop, jazz and creative movement.

Positive Attitude will also host a Dance and Drama Camp for children 8 and up where, in addition to dance, participants will learn how to apply stage make-up, design costumes and learn how to develop a musical theatre routine to be showcased during a special evening performance.

Special to Positive Attitude this summer is a Gymnastics Camp with sessions for ages 3-6, 7-12 and 13 and up. The gymnastics camp will focus on floor work, designed to build strength and improve flexibility.

The schedule also includes a Pom-Pom Camp for ages 8-13 where emphasis is placed on hand-foot coordination as well as flexibility, strength and speed learning.

In addition to specialty camps, Positive Attitude will also offer a full schedule of classes for those wishing to hone their dance skills over the summer months.

Classes will run July 7 through July 31. For more information and to register, call (248) 471-7099.
