When Mr. Crawford stops for a moment at the end of the announcements every noon, there is a tense silence, while everyone awaits with stiff muscles the fateful words, "You're excused." At last they come and a rushing, bumping river of people rolls down the aisles to meet the main stream in front. At the cupboards small tributaries detach themselves from the main body and enter the closets. Then the real excitement begins. The cupboards are a mass of rattling rings and legs and the welkin rings with cries of, "Get off my coat! That crust!" "Will you look at that hat?" "New yesterday, and now it's absolutely flat!"

Finally nearly every little "drop of water" leaves the room and quiet reigns again.

But there is a perfect manner of procedure to follow when being dismissed. All wait with easy nonchalance before Mr. Crawford excuses them. They then arise slowly and stroll lazily down the aisle to join an equally sluggish stream at the bottom, from which a buzz of polite conversation arises. At the cupboards the small tributaries detach themselves slowly and while some enter the cupboards in an orderly manner others wait their turn at the door and, by the time every one has left, the room seems positively noisy.

As the last method seems a little exaggerated, why not try to strike a happy medium?

A great many people who ought to know say that method in study makes the brain work better because it gradually becomes a habit to do a certain thing at a certain time. If possible, your studying should be done in a quiet room, but if that is impossible, at least in one where the conversation does not interest you. Half your mind should not be listening to the conversation, while the other half studies.

If each subject is studied well at a certain time, you will not have to study very much harder when examinations come, but if you have not been studying very well you will have to "cram" for every test, and then you will probably work harder than you would have if you had studied each lesson as it came.

EXTRA! ALL ABOUT—!

The Latch-Key caught the "extra" paper from the Enterprise and published a "tournament extra" last Thursday! It contained the tournament schedule typewritten on a sheet of typing paper and posted on the bulletin board.

"THE IRON HORSE" TELLS OF THE FIRST RAILROAD

A Book Review By George Mairs

The purpose of the story, "The Iron Horse," is to show how the first railroad across the west was built and the difficulties and great struggles encountered.

When the story opens Mr. Brandon hears that pass has to be located in the Black Hills. He struggles with the Indians but is cruelly murdered.

A man by the name of Marsh goes on with the work. Brandon's son, Davy, who is working with Marsh remembers the pass. With the iron horse, the pass, a tree leaves his life.

An Indian in the story tries to bribe a white man but is not discovered. After many heartaches, Davy marries his sweetheart of childhood days. The love story is a minor plot.

Foods Class Of High School Gives Dinner

At five o'clock Tuesday, the High School class gave a dinner as a final project for their study of different foods for dinners. Mr. and Mrs. Baker and Mr. Rohrer were the guests. The menu consisted of beef steak, mashed potatoes, sweet corn, tomato salad, celery and pickles, rolls, home made ice cream with hot buttered sauce and vegetables.

Dwayne Murphy was the hostess and Gladys Krumm the host. The dinner was served by some of the eighth grade girls.

GIRLS' SCORE TOTALS 158 FOR SEASON

The girls brought a successful basketball season to a close the early part of this month by tying with Northville for first place in the League. Birmingham was second place and Beradale stands third.

In the first game of the season Farmington defeated Birmingham by a score of 28-19, and in the last game the girls were defeated by Ferndale by a score of 18-10.

A count made shows that Farmington totalled 158 points during the season to 122 points during opponents' games.

The second team also closed a successful season winning three out of four games played. They were defeated by Berkley with a score of 19-16. The girls made 50 points to 46 scored against them.

WORK ON GARDENING

The fourth grade is working on a home-gardening project. Penny packets of seeds of all kinds are to be bought by the children and planted at home. The girls made plans to be given as to how the plants are progressing. Several grades are entering this project under Miss Heaton's supervision.

The Audubon Society has offered a prize for the best built birdhouse made by a student in the Grade School. This Society is starting this project in order to observe Bird Week, the first week of April.

The orchestra which played at the March concert was called by Ferndale and was called "The Melody Makers." This orchestra broadcasts about once a week from Royal Oak.

Oliver Grimwade was absent last week for the first time in his entire High School. Illness was the cause for breaking this enviable record.

Ethel Hill, freshman, Raymond Cox, '28, John Cox and Wellington Hulm, '28, were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. Langbecker, Sunday.

Mr. Bisbee has been chosen to coach both girls and boys tennis this season. A meeting of those interested in this sport was held Tuesday.

The P. T. A. has offered a prize to be given to the grade under the eighth which has the most mothers present at the meetings of the Association.

The bathing beauties and the wildman were big attractions at the carnival. This sideshow was attended by 146 persons.

By defeating Oxford, St. Fredricks, and Oak Ridge, Holly won the basketball tournament of Oakland County for this year.

Kathryn and Carl Redding are back in school after an absence of a week.

Mr. Brethour has sent a group of books to Lansing to be rebound.

Virginia Adams was absent the early part of this week because of illness.

Mr. Rohrer spent the week end at his home at Grass Lake.

Miss MacKellar spent Saturday shopping in Detroit.

Miss Heaton visited her sister in Pontiac Saturday.

THANKS TO ALL

On behalf of the entire High School, the Student Council wishes to extend thanks to the townspeople for the loyal support of this year's carnival.

HIGH TEAM LOSES TO HAZEL PARK IN TOURNAMENT

Defeated by Hazel Park 26-17 last Thursday at Oxford, Farmington was eliminated from the tournament in its first game.

In the first quarter Cox made the only score for Farmington, shooting one basket to Hazel Park's four. The second period was a tie, with F. H. S. and at the end of the first half the score was 14-6 in Hazel Park's favor.

The last half showed improvement in the Blue and Whites. Farmington and the Farmington quintet prevented Hazel Park from making any short shots. There was some hope that Farmington might be victorious when two successful layups by Cox and Schwelm brought them within two baskets of Hazel Park's score. However, in the last few minutes of play Hazel Park retaliated with three successive baskets and the game ended 26-17 with Farmington at the small end of the score.

FAVOR LOWERING DUES

The Girls' League Council in a meeting Thursday favored lowering the dues from $1.00 per year to 50 cents. The plan will be submitted to the club for vote at the next meeting.

Each member of the Council has been given the responsibility of seeing that every girl in her class returns the test paper which she worked on at the last meeting. Miss Niel said, "The results will have no meaning unless the answers of more than 22 papers can be tabulated."
