

OAKLAND WILL FOLLOW
ITS 'SPRING SHOWINGS' WITH DEMONSTRATIONS

Following the highly successful "General Motors Spring Showings" week, Oakland-Pontiac Sales announces a vigorous demonstration campaign during May.

This program in response to many requests for demonstrations of the new Oakland All-American Six and the new Pontiac Big Six. "The distinctive appearance of the cars created a decidedly favorable impression. That the new cars are just as outstanding in performance we propose to demonstrate throughout the coming month.

"We have records of many tests already made at various sections of the country and at General Motors Proving Ground, which reveal unusual acceleration, deceleration and high sustained top speed. These same qualities we are going to demonstrate on the hills and highways in our section so that local residents may see for themselves the type of performance which we could only tell them about during the Spring Showing."

And It Wasn't Moving, Day, Either

IN KENTUCKY, in the old days, we had for the chief justice of our highest court a tall old Confederate cavalryman. This gentleman was learned in the law but otherwise simply liked to divide his time between Frankfort, the capital, and the little town where he had been born and reared. Until he was nearly seventy years old he had been north of the Ohio river but once in his life. And that was when he rode with Morgan's Raiders.

After his retirement from the bench he decided to see something of the world. He sat on the train and came to New York. Arriving late at night he lodged at the old Fifth Avenue hotel. Arising early the next morning he set out for a walk in the great city, going south on Broadway. After a while he came to Canal street, then, as now, one of the busiest cross-town arteries and likewise the widest river-to-river street in lower Manhattan. Here, for a space, the old judge stood on the edge of the curb watching the quadrupled lines of vehicular traffic that passed him east and west. As far as he could see in either direction there was no end to the interweaving tangles of loaded trucks and wagons and vans and delivery cars.

At length he made his way to where a policeman stood in the middle of the crossway directing travel.

"Excuse me, sir," inquired the visitor, in his rich southern accent, "but sir you connected with the city government yere?"

"I'm a policeman, if that's what you mean," answered the bluecoat.

"So I judged from your costume and department," said the venerable Kentuckian.

"Anything I can do for you?" inquired the officer, stirred to special affability by the courteous manner of the stranger.

"No, son, I reckon not," said the judge benignly, "but if it's not too much trouble I would like to ask you a question."

"Go ahead with the question," the officer replied.

"Well, son," prefaced the judge, "you boys suitably have got a lovely city here. I'll say that much. But tell me, son, haven't you got powerfully behind with your handling, some way?"

Special Duty Placed on Last Homecoming

Governor, Gov. of West Virginia was talking at a Charleston luncheon about oil troubles.

"Strong measures are needed," he said, "to save our oil reserves. Yes, we must cut to the root of the evil—not just resort to expedients, like the paterfamilias."

"A paterfamilias with a large family of daughters said to a friend one day:

"With all these daughters of mine coming in at all hours my night's rest is naturally much broken up, and for some time the consequence was that I'd oversleep myself every morning and be late for work at the office. Bad business."

"The paterfamilias looked gloomy, then he brightened up.

"But I've hit on a splendid expedient now," he said. "I've made it a hard and fast rule that the last girl to call me on her way to bed."

Radio From Your Body

Almost every one has had the strange experience of "feeling" the presence of a person in a room, when that person was out of sight and hearing. According to Popular Science Monthly, two Munich professors have made discoveries which may help explain the mystery. The skin, they have found, holds an electrical charge, as if connected with a hidden battery. By delicate radio instruments they claim to have discovered that our bodies send forth electrical emanations which can be detected six feet away.

Real Non-Skid
PERFORMANCE

Slow, Even Tread Wear

That's what the Goodyear All-Weather Tread Balloon Tire gives.

Real Non-Skid Performance—because the deep cut, sharp-edged blocks in the tread's center seize, grip and hang-on.

Slow, Even Tread Wear—because these sharp-edged blocks are placed in a semi-flat design. They not only grip the road, but retain their usefulness longer than any non-skid tread heretofore offered.

Come in and see it. We'll let the tire do all the talking. It's backed by our standard Goodyear service.
