Phones are such unsatisfactory

"Phones are things."
"Not always. I've found them very useful on some occasions. In fact, even more effective than a personal visit," laugher Wilton. But tell me how you broke the news."
"I didnt. You did. It's the biggest loke. It was dad you were talking to over this phone this morning and not me!"
"Your father!"
"Sure. He's the whole works up at the Sunset City Coal. Didn't, you know it? The phone on my desk is an extension of his, and I listened in to part of the conversation. Don't know what made me do it, but I could handly sit still when he sauntered into my chips, look of an office and coagnanimously offered me the position of the me and the thinks of the conversation. I will be the position of the me and the will be the position of the me and the will be the position of the me and the will be the will be position of the me and left Wilton it a clear, but is feet up on the deak and legacies to a redinage defauck in a redinag
