NEW PICTURES PLACED

The four pictures purchased by the School Board were placed in the halls of the High School and Grade School last Friday afternoon.

One hundred dollars was appropriated by the School Board for the purpose of purchasing new pictures to decorate our halls and class rooms.

"The Covered Wagon" which hangs just above the fountain in the High School hall, is a colorful portrait of the American Pioneer.

"The Home of the Heron" which hangs outside of the English room, reveals the wonderful work of nature and shows the beauty in a low, dismal swamp.

"Air Castles," which is on the east side of the Grade School hall brings back to us the many dreams of childhood.

"Thrice Blessed," which hangs over the drinking fountain in the Grade School, portrays to us the home life of our pioneer farmers and out of its color one may read of their poverty, hard work and blessed happiness.

NINE BOYS, ONE GIRL

The Student Council this year is an unusual group. The nine new members elected last Wednesday are all boys, although the President, elected last June, is a girl.

It was a remarkable sight to see all the boys march in to Room 11, while the meeting was called to order by Helen Westfall.

The first business of the new council was to elect officers. They are as follows: Philip McCully, vice-president; Raymond Fend, secretary; Glen Werner, treasurer.

The next business taken up was the Athletic dues, their rate and length of time to be paid. They decided that at the first of each semester 75 cents is to be paid by each of the students for athletic dues. This entitles him to attend all of the home games.

Mr. Crawford is the advisor for the Student Council.

GIRLS' LEAGUE

The Girls' League held their first meeting September 11, at 10 a. m. in the assembly room.

The officers elected were as follows: Melba Kevich, senior, president; Heddie Schoen, junior, vice-president; Beulah Allen, sophomore, secretary; Wanda Drake, freshman, treasurer.

A council was formed for the purpose of transacting all the business of the league. The members of the committee are Winifred Seely, Katherine Hagric, Mary Clark, Rosetta Cairns, Viola Lamb, Helen Westfall, Doris Schroeder, and Pearl Brown.

BAND AT SHOW

The High School Band furnished the music at the Flower Show Thursday evening, September 12. The Band announces the addition of a trombone student which will tend to make the Band much more successful.

LIBRARY CORNER

If you are interested in dog stories you should read "Cop," written by Reginald M. Cleveland. Mr. Cleveland questions if all our so-called police dogs are real or part shepherd.

He portrays the life of Cop, a real police dog, who is born at Sunny Gables, New Hampshire, at Judge Halliwell's home.

On the evening of Cop's birth his father wins the Field Trial Championship. Cop also wins many honors through his ever daring feats and proves his police dog blood.

Another dog story, "The End of the Trail," but Maude Earl, tells of domesticating wolves for northern sled use.

EDITORIAL

The first football game of the season will be played at Cooley High School, Friday, September 20.

Mr. Baker has been kind enough to allow a half-holiday for the High School so there are not many reasons for not going to the game. If a means of conveyance troubles anyone there are enough cars going to provide room for everybody. The bus will also be used.

The team this year, with Philo McCully heading them, promises to be one of the best Farmington has ever boasted.

The boys will need our support more than ever this year, so why not everybody "break their necks" to get there and after they get there lend their loyal support and lusty voices for the benefit of the team.

Miss Halsted, fifth grade teacher, spent Sunday in Ypsilanti.

The first graders wish to tell the school how they enjoy their readers, "We Three."
