'GIVES BRIDE AWAY' WITH 'I DO' BY LONG DISTANCE

Unable to attend the wedding of his daughter, Miss Florence Mills, a graduate of Vassar, Major Byron J. Mills "gave her away" over long distance telephone wires when she was married recently to Albert Hawkins in Calgary, Canada. Major Mills was at his home in Seattle, Wash. when the words came over the wire, "Who giveth this woman away?" "I do," answered the bride's father in Seattle and the marriage ceremony became a fact.

KEEPS SERVICE GOING

Gathering the switchboard cords in her arms and holding them above the rising water, Mrs. Myrtle D. Dull, chief operator at Elmdale, Kans., succeeded in maintaining service with an interruption of only 20 minutes when the Cottonwood River over flowed this past summer. Her of face was flooded, and as the water rose above the floor level, she drew the cords in her arms to prevent them from getting wet. Despite the fact that they were heavy, she held them steadily until telephone men could bring boxes and raise the switchboard above the rising water. Then, with a nail keg serving as her chair, she resumed service to the flooded community.

NOTED AUTHOR TALKS

The first transatlantic radio telephone call from Hamilton, Ontario, to the British Isles was made recently by W. J. Southam to Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, noted for his investigations in connection with spiritualism and even more famous as the originator of the great fiction detective, Sherlock Holmes. This conversation is of particular interest because it was in Hamilton that the first telephone exchange in the British Empire was established.

At the beginning of the present century the City of St. Louis had only 6,200 telephones. Today it has more than 200,000 telephones.

Greetings Of The Season

As we approach another year we realize that we have another opportunity before us. Looking back over the past year we find many things to be thankful for. Very generous has been the support given us by the people of this community, for which we are truly grateful.

Another book is about to be opened. Every page in it must bear a record at the end of 1930. We hope and we will strive most earnestly to make on every page a record of which we can be proud at the end of the year—a record of service well rendered, and of work well done.

With this thought in mind, we wish to express to all our friends and patrons, our best wishes for a most

Happy Christmas
And
Prosperous New Year
