

Transoceanic Dog Sale

The transatlantic telephone service was used the other day to buy a dog. The dog bears the name of Wyollar Diamond Merchant and was adjudged the best wire-haired fox terrier in England and the most persistent winner of blue ribbons at English dog shows. It was bought by Mr. and Mrs. Homer Gage, the transaction being made entirely by transatlantic telephone.

IS IT "JUST A COLD?"

Don't be too quick to say "just a cold." In the case of a child, the running eyes and nose may mean the beginning of measles, the teasing cough may be whooping cough, the sore throat may be scarlet fever or diphtheria. Even your own "cold" may be influenza, bronchitis, perhaps the early stages of pneumonia.

More than half the illnesses of winter are first classified as colds. The Michigan Tuberculosis Association says that a large percentage could be cut short if every person with a "cold" would stop work, and take a least one day's rest in bed—just one single day. Staying away from people for that day would keep you from distributing your cold to others at its most contagious stage. It would help you to fight the early fever and give your heart action a chance to steady down. In most cases it would put an end to your cold.

Many a case of fatal pneumonia would be prevented were this simple rule followed. Hanging around the house partly dressed, going from room to room and occasionally outdoors does not answer. The prescription reads "Stay In Bed."

A Tip . . . from Andrew Carnegie

Asked to explain his phenomenal success, Andrew Carnegie blandly attributed it to his ability to get men to work for him who knew more than he did.

And that's a formula for success. Nobody who is really successful does all the work himself. He employs other people's minds and efforts.

Do you do the same in the intricate business of running your home and taking care of your family? You can, quite easily.

You can employ specialists in diet; you can serve the master dishes of famous chefs; you can have the advice of style authorities in selecting your clothes, of whole electrical laboratories in buying household appliances, by reading the advertisements.

All the newest knowledge—knowledge millions of dollars and years of effort have won—is contained in the advertisements.

If you will use the advertisements in this newspaper as Andrew Carnegie used men who knew more than he did, every dollar you spend will be spent wisely, economically, and will return full measure of satisfaction. That's the way to be a success in the greatest business in the world—making a home.

It Pays to Read the Advertisements
