

Ask Dad, He Knows
 Father—Why were you kept after school?
 Son—I didn't know where the Azores were.
 Father—In the future just remember where you put things.—Le Rire, Paris.

HI-Y DELEGATION

At the Hi-Y Conference, held at South Lyon Monday, February 3, Farmington had the largest delegation of any school there; 20 members of the local organization attending.

A dinner was served. Russell Dunham, the president of the South Lyon Hi-Y, introduced E. H. Thorne, leader of the South Lyon Hi-Y, as toastmaster. L. G. Young led the group in a few songs.

Glenn Husten, representing the County Hi-Y, gave a short address to explain the purpose of the County Hi-Y committee. The main speaker of the evening was Prof. W. D. Henderson of the University of Michigan. He gave an entertaining speech in which he told stories to illustrate the main idea of his speech which was, "Know thyself; and knowing thyself, give charity."

HI-Y NEWS

Although only fifteen members were present, the regular Hi-Y business meeting was held at 7:30, January 23.

The Oakland County council meeting was announced for February 3 at South Lyon. The athletic project of the Hi-Y was discussed and worked out. The money problem was discussed and the question of raising money by putting on plays looks favorable.

The Motto above the bulletin board this week is taken from a poem written by Robert Browning, a noted English poet. Its purpose is to show that some good can be seen in everything. "I find not grey, but rosy. Heaven not grim, but fair of hue. Do I stop? I pluck a posy. Do I stand and stare? All's blue." "Can you, too, see some good in everything?"

An athletic project for the members of the Hi-Y was worked out at the business meeting Tuesday, January 23.

The boys will meet every Saturday at the school where they will receive instructions in wrestling, boxing, volley ball, basketball and other sports. Mr. Crawford, the Hi-Y leader, will be the instructor. This will provide a place for the boys to go on Saturday afternoon and the athletic work will develop their bodies as well as provide clean and wholesome entertainment.

Has your furnace a cold heart?

In the fire-pot of your heating plant is a coil of pipe that day and night steals heat from your furnace—heat that you bought to warm your house. Covered with ashes, coated with lime, it thrusts its cold tentacles into the very heart of the flames, preventing efficient combustion and robbing you of your heat dollars.

After years of experiment, engineers have developed a gas water heater that gives you constant hot water summer and winter at low cost. It does away with the furnace coil forever. This new achievement in water heaters can use only a small amount of gas and is built like a thermos bottle so the heat can't escape.
