FOLLOW THRU, LONDON AND NEW YORK SUCCESS. PLAYING AT THE CASS

All the world is a dance and song; all the world is ludicrous; all loves are gay; everything is one big joyous party. That's the spirit of "Follow Thru," the Schwab and Mandel musical comedy hit that is now playing at the Cass Theatre, Detroit.

All through this worthy musical comedy success that has a record of standing them up on Broadway for 11 months and 6 months in Chicago, there is the attitude of light-heartedness. It is behind the music of Ray Henderson and Lew Brown; behind the bantering of the lyrics of "Buddy" De Sylva; behind even the prancing in joyous fashion short, it is behind a funny, spinning delightful show, which never becomes maudlin. And to make it more delightful and merrier, there is a capable cast of singers, specialty dancers and funmakers.

The book, written by Lawrence Schwab, tells in joyous fashion of country life on Long Island, and there is a background of golf. The spirit of modern youth prevails. Bobby Connolly staged the peppy dances, and Edgar MacGregor directed the book. "Follow Thru" contains enough youth, enough pep, enough sterling ability to make a success of several shows. Critics have raved over it, and so have audiences. In the cast are such well known names as Bobby Jarvis, Lillian Bond, Warren Hull, Dorothy Daw, Harry Tighe, Nayan Tracey, Reggie O'Neill, Thomas Pearce, Helen Carrington, Wilma Raefol and many others, with a chorus of 50 famous Broadway beauties—and Al Goodman's famous country club boys.

PLANNING SPRING AND SUMMER 4-H PROJECTS
