"INCOMPARABLE MITZI" TO BE AT THE WILSON THEATRE NEXT WEEK

"Sari" is coming. This operetta with its delights of music and romance and picturesqueness will be the attraction at the Wilson Theatre, Detroit, commencing next Sunday evening, and best of all is the announcement that Mitzi, that adorable and imitable comedienne will be seen, as the star.

"Sari" was considered one of the best operettas ever written and its music has been compared to the "Merry Widow." Furthermore, it is unusual in having a genuinely clever book, an interesting play with comedy, wit, romance and a touch of sentiment. This was the first appearance of Mitzi in America and overnight she became a star, with her quaintness, her sweetness and her genuine touches of comedy. In it the part fits her like a glove and the old Hungarian dance of "Ha-Za-Za," the lilting waltz number, "Softly Through the Summer Night," "Love Has Wings," "My Faithful Stradivari" and "Love's Own Sweet Song," made Kaiman the Viennese composer, famous in America the same as he was in Europe. Another notable feature of "Sari" this season is the appearance of the Albertina Rasch Dancers, whose ensemble dances arouse the wild est of applause. The varied colored peasant costumes, and the wonderful "Sari" gowns are the same talked of features of the operetta as when it was first produced.

In a way one might say the company is nearly 100 per cent Hungarian, as the music is by Emmerick Kaiman, the stage setting by Willy Pogany, the various dances staged by Albertina Rasch and the orchestra directed by Paul Yartin. A real Hungarian orchestra is also carried headed by Beneze Karoly and his Hungarian grey band. There will be two matinees given a popular priced matinee on Wednesday and regular Saturday matinee.

DISCUSS FIRE FIGHTING

Upper peninsula members of the Michigan forest fire organization will gather at Marquette when plans for the 1930 fire season will be discussed. New and more efficient uses for the tractor and the power pump in combating fires are being discussed and explained; wardens are reviewing the work done in their districts last year and are considering improvements; and the nucleus for the 1930 complete fire fighting force for the State will be outlined.

The stock market experts agree that if prices don't go up, they will go down, and if they don't go down, they will go up.
