RIPE TOMATO WILL GO TO WYANDOTTE FROM HERE SOON

One Tomato Means A Banquet For Farmington Man Who Accepts A Challenge

Clarence Bicking of Farmington is going to have ripe tomatoes before next Tuesday, June 17, and he's going to have them if he has to "move heaven and earth to do it." A banquet wager and some joshing from Wyandotte friends makes it certain. Some months ago, a Wyandotte man was talking with Mr. Bicking and other friends and said that last year he had ripe tomatoes from his garden on June 17. What did Mr. Bicking know? he asked, about raising tomatoes.

Mr. Bicking said he knew that June 17 was very late to have tomatoes ripen hereabouts in anybody's garden—that he could do better himself, although the other man is an experienced vegetable-raiser. The fun began.

Mr. Bicking has some very nearly ripe tomatoes on his vines, and unless some one from Wyandotte slips up to Farmington in the dead of night and snips them off, it looks as though the Wyandotte man will pay a banquet for his low opinion of Farmington tomato-raisers.
