

LIET. GOVERNOR ASPIRANT FAVORS OLD-AGE PENSION

E. W. THOMPSON

For Lieut. Governor The candidacy of Ethan W. Thompson for nomination as Lieutenant-Governor of Michigan on the Republican ticket at the Primaries Sept. 9, is receiving widespread endorsement from civic, religious, social, fraternal and patriotic groups throughout Michigan.

Mr. Thompson became a candidate at the earnest solicitation of friends throughout the state, who believed that in him, Michigan will send to Lansing a representative citizen, trained by years of executive experience for the post of Lieutenant-Governor. These friends view in Mr. Thompson a candidate unpledged to any group, but pledged to the citizenry of the State to serve them efficiently, loyally and constructively.

Mr. Thompson is an advocate of the Old Age Pension. He believes that through this system Michigan can best care for its elderly indigent citizens in a more humane and economical manner, as have twelve other States done.

He believes in the development of Michigan as a national mecca for tourists, since the tourist business is now admitted the second largest business financially in the state.

He believes in law enforcement, because he holds that the observance of law is the safeguard of citizens.

He is a good roads missionary. He holds that Michigan's good roads are among its best assets, and that good roads are essential to the development and progress of the state.

He holds that the tax burden on the small home owner has reached a point where it is to all intents confiscatory. He favors tax relief. "Michigan must remain a state of average home owners, rather than one of landlords," Mr. Thompson said.

Mr. Thompson was born at Lodi, Ohio, on a farm in 1869. When three years of age removed with his parents to the Allegheny Mountains of West Virginia. He came to Michigan in 1883, where his father bought a saw-mill and located in the wilds of Charlevoix County in the Grand Traverse Region.

Mr. Thompson worked on farm, in saw-mill, and in woods until he was twenty-two years of age when he entered the printing trade in a country newspaper. He followed the trade of printer for a few years, and at one time he edited a paper for a year.

Enlisted in Co. C, 35th Michigan Volunteer Infantry and served until the regiment was mustered out at the close of the Spanish-American War.

Entered the field work of the Maccabees in the spring of 1897 and with the exception of a time served in the army has been practically aligned with the work of the association ever since. He was elected Great Commander of the Great Camp for Michigan in 1919, and in the same year he was elected a member of the Supreme Board of Trustees of the international jurisdiction of the Supreme Tent of the Maccabees. He has been re-elected at various state and international convention of the association since then to these positions unanimously.

GETTING WHAT YOU WANT One of the tragedies of life is that people get what they want. If you keep your mind on something you are pretty sure to get it after awhile. The trouble is that although we know better, we set our minds on having something that is not good for us. We get it and suffer for it. If we always knew what was good for us and always set our minds on that thing there would be much more happiness in life than there is.—Exchange.

GANGSTERS KEPT OUT OF COUNTY BY NORMAN ORR

Oakland County Prosecutor Points to Danger of Wayne County Crime

"Organized crime, the sinister influence that thrives in Wayne County, is dangerously close to your homes, your local government. The hired assassin, the conscienceless hoodlum, and the treacherous gambler no longer walk in the shadows. They take their toll in the day light—because, the people foolishly have refused to see them. Frequent attempts have been made by organized crime to enter Oakland County but they have met with the invincible sword of justice and righteousness. We must keep Oakland County safe from the rule of the racketeer."

Norman C. Orr, Oakland County's youthful, fighting prosecutor, so warns the voters and pleads for their assistance in a continuing fight on crime. Mr. Orr believes in the proverb, "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure." And on this platform he bases his request that the electorate continue in their support of his efforts to protect and defend Oakland County as its prosecuting attorney.

Orr cites his remarkable record during his first two years of office to prove his ability as a public servant concerned primarily with the public interest.

Many Are Convicted "During the first 18 months of my administration," he says, "737 cases were prosecuted for violations of laws, including misdemeanors and felonies. Of these cases, which included trials in the Justice Courts all over the county, there were 6,482 convictions, or a trifle more than 88 per cent convictions."

"In the justice courts" where the examinations must be made and felonies vended out, 654 cases prosecuted were dismissed upon examination. Of all the cases tried in Oakland County, which includes the justice courts in Ferndale, Birmingham, Royal Oak, Pontiac, Farmington, Hazel Park and other communities, there were only 86 acquittals, including both misdemeanors and felonies.

"There were 263 cases involving the violation of the prohibition law. Of these, 258 persons were convicted. These reports I have sent to the Attorney General's office."

Saved Money "A great savings of money has been effected through the abolition of a previous practice of holding inquests in every accident or sudden death that occurred in the county. It has also been my work to act as legal advisor for the board of supervisors, saving the county a great deal of money that would otherwise be spent on outside legal counsel. Advise also is given out, by my office to township officers throughout the county.

"There is an average of 200 persons every day coming into the Prosecutor's office for advice and other matters, and an average of 350 telephone calls are made into the office every day. Because it is impossible to try all of the cases in the various towns throughout the county during the daytime, a great many trials have been held at night after the Prosecuting Attorney's office has been closed.

"With the co-operation of the state, county and municipal law enforcement agencies I have been able to accomplish a great deal that would have been impossible without their aid and co-operation."

Germano Case "This can best be seen in the excellent support my office obtained in a few of the following, outstanding cases prosecuted during the first 18 months of my term of office: "The Andrew Germano kidnaping case. Germano, a ruthless leader of a notorious Detroit kidnaping ring, while on a hijacking expedition, shot a Birmingham policeman and successfully made his escape. He was apprehended by information furnished by the Prosecutor's office with the co-operation of the Sheriff's department. Within a very short time he was tried, convicted and sentenced to spend from 35 to 50 years in the State Prison at Marquette."—Adv.

'BANDIT' DERIVED FROM ITALIAN WORD, 'BANDITO'

Back in the early days of English, when the language was called Anglo-Saxon (after the Teutonic tribes which invaded Britain in the fifth century), a criminal was called an "utlah," or, as the word is now spelled, an outlaw. The word came into Anglo-Saxon from Scandinavia, and had an early parallel form in Iceland, that northern island which became an outpost of the Viking Northmen.

In Italy, a similar criminal was called a bandit (as the English form is spelled). The circumstances which gave rise to such names as outlaw and bandit must have been strikingly alike, for Webster's New International Dictionary defines outlaw as follows:

"A person, excluded from the benefit of the law, or deprived of its protection; a person against whom outlawry has been pronounced a proscribed person."

Bandit, which comes from the Italian "bandito," means fundamentally one who has been banished (the word banish is from the same Latin source), as revealed in the definition:

"An outlaw; hence, a brigand; a lawless marauder, usually one belonging to one of the bands infesting the mountainous districts of Sicily, Italy, Spain, Greece, Turkey, etc." "Bandits" or "banditti" is the correct plural of bandit.

ERROR IN REPORT 4 In the annual report of School District No. 6, Farmington Township, printed in the Enterprise of July 31, the item of primary money was inadvertently omitted from the receipts column. The amount of money received was $2,904.50. The receipts total was correct as printed, $14,810.06. The error was made by the Enterprise, and not by the secretary making the report, F. R. Wilkinson.

'CONSIDER ENTIRE PROSECUTOR STAFF' URGES CANDIDATE

CLARENCE L. SMITH "I believe that you should be concerned with the age, legal experience, and reputation of the entire Prosecutor's staff," says Clarence L. Smith, Republican candidate for prosecuting attorney at the primary, Sept. 9.

"You should be satisfied that the prosecutor's office is on friendly and workable terms with all other law-enforcement agencies. Your money can be wasted by the issuance of unwarranted and uninvestigated complaints. "Partiality or bias in administration, each lead to disrespect for law enforcement. Common courtesy is required in private business, and should be demanded in public service. "Your support will be appreciated."

Riding Wild Buffalo To Be A Fair Feature

Riding wild buffalo, a stunt never before seen in Michigan, will be a feature to be presented at the Stampede, in connection with the Michigan State Fair, August 31 to September 6, according to Col. Frank Hatley, arena director, who is now in Detroit completing arrangements for the event.

Of all the sports or stunts of the wild and woolly west, riding buffalo is probably the most dangerous and the most rarely presented, owing to the difficulty in obtaining these animals, for there are less than 5,000 of them in the entire American continent. The animals to be used in the sports at the State Fair Stampede are coming from the big ranch of Maj. Gordon W. Lillie, better known as "Pawnee Bill" at Pawnee, Okla., where they roam wild as in their native state. Major Lillie is one of the leading promoters of the fight to prevent the extermination of these beasts that once roamed the American plains by the thousands, and his herd of more than 100 animals is rated as one of the best in the country.

The Stampede will be presented each afternoon and evening, except Sunday, of Fair Week, the Fair starting Sunday, August 31, with a sacred concert by Creators' Concert Band and continuing through Saturday, September 6.

SEEK WHISTLE OWNERS Deputy sheriffs of this section seek the co-operation of motorists in apprehending young men who are driving cars equipped with exhaust whistles. Police ask that the numbers of such cars be obtained and turned over to them, in order that they may locate the owners and order the whistles removed.
