WEST POINT PARK KEEPS PACE WITH LEAGUE LEADERS

Defeat Risdon Sunday, 7 To 6, And Remain Game Back Of First Place

West Point Park's baseball team kept pace with the leaders in the Triple A loop of the Detroit Baseball Federation by a close 7 to 6 victory over Gabel-Risdon Sunday in a game played on the West Point grounds.

For the second time in a month, West Point was forced to come from behind to beat Tury Labond's Creamery nine. In Detroit several weeks ago, Risdon led 3 to 0 in the fifth stanza, but West Point eventually won 4 to 3.

At West Point Sunday, Risdon scored six runs in the first four innings, and were in the van, 6 to 1, when the Parkers came to bat in the fifth. In that inning the home team scored five runs, and tied the score at 6 runs, driving Hopper, Risdon ace, from the mound, and binging in Bill Englishman. The former minor league star stopped the attack until the ninth when West Point pushed a tally across the plate to break up the game.

Herman Hartner was nicked for a run in the first inning, and in the third and two more in the fourth by the Detroit team, but stayed in the box.

Hartner struck his stride in the fifth, and not a Risdon player reached first until one man was out in the ninth. The Parker's southpaw twirler allowed eight hits, fanned five and issued four passes.

R. Wolfrom, one of the five leading batters in the Federation, continued his heavy clubbing, hitting safely twice out of four trips to the plate.

With one out in the fifth, C. Wolfrom and R. Wolfrom singled. Johnson also singled scoring C. Wolfrom. Knoch walked and the bases were filled. Millross tripled clearing the bases and sending Hopper from the game. Englishman relieving him. Hamerschmidt kept the rally going with a double scoring Millross and tying the score. Hartner fouled out and Halvery fanned ending the inning.

In the ninth with two out and Knoch on second, Peter Risdon first baseman, muffed a throw from the second sacker on a ground ball, enabling the West Point runner to score from second with the winning tally.

The victory Sunday enabled West Point to remain within striking distance of first place. Herman Lau by winning Sunday remained a full game ahead of the Parkers. Strzyckis in second place are one-half game ahead of West Point.

Bobby Jones Explains Putting In Golf Film

The reverse inter-locking putting grip—one of the most discussed features of Bobby Jones' championship game, is thoroughly explained by the Emperor of Golf in "The Putter", the first of his twelve one-reel educational and instructional pictures of "How I Play Golf," at the Redford Theatre, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

"Jumpy," wrists ruin many, many putts, according to the golfer who has written international tee and greens history and of the many suggestions advanced for the betterment of this perplexing problem, Bobby has found the reverse interlocking grip to be the most satisfactory answer to date.

"TAPS"

Promoters of questionable advertising and directory schemes in many sections of the country are taking thousands of dollars each year from business men through what is known as the "Tap" system. Promoters obtain authentic signatures on so-called donation lists. Then the signatures are forged, by tracing, to contracts for advertising space in non-existing publications.

These forged contracts are presented to the alleged signers for collection. The signer does not remember signing, but his name appears authentic, so he pays from $50.00 to $500.00, depending on what the contract calls for. Those who pay these amounts without investigation are called "Taps" by the advertising racketeer. Just a little investigation on the part of the advertiser would save most of this money. Facts are available, or will be gathered, on any of these projects. Merchants approached on directory and advertising projects should communicate with the Farmington Enterprise or the Better Business Bureau of Detroit, Inc. First National Bank Building.

Using Old Phonograph Records

OLD or cracked phonograph records become quite numerous in a family of children. One of the ways of using them to advantage after they are cracked or too worn to play is to keep one on the turning board to keep the iron polished. It is handier and quicker than a piece of beeswax that is too small.

There are other uses of old records which enable the children to learn the properties of wax and to construct things from it. The wax may be melted away from the other ingredients in the records by putting them in oil of turpentine, or by heating in boiling water. The other ingredients form a residue, leaving the wax on top. The wax can then be used for modeling various animals and is. It can be used for waxing floors and furniture by adding turpentine to the desired consistency.

Articles that are exposed such as floors and doors will not warp or crack under the heat of sun or radiator if they are frequently treated with wax. A good floor wax is composed of two parts of wax and three parts of Venice turpentine.

BANDITS WHO CUT WIRE GIVE CLUE TO CAPTURE

Constable Who Repaired Broken Telephone Line Gets Alarm and Makes Arrest

Two Wyoming highwaymen, who had robbed a store and were about to make good their escape, were trapped and brought to justice recently through the alertness of one plant man of the Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph Company, the resourcefulness of another, and the loyalty of a former telephone employee.

Allen Dryer, at work on the test-board at Rawlins, Wyo., found that there was a break on the line about two miles south of Saratoga. To drive out from Rawlins to make the necessary repairs, owing to the great distance, meant that it would be late in the evening before service could be restored. Accordingly, the telephone officials got in touch with L. L. St. John, the constable at Saratoga, who happens to be a former member of one of the Wyoming telephone construction crews. As he was only two miles away from the break, he readily agreed to make temporary repairs at once, and proceeded to do so. This action on his part turned out to be more in the line of duty than he realized, for ten minutes after his return to his office he received a call from Encampment, over the newly repaired line, to the effect that two robbers had entered a store at that place, bound the proprietor and his clerk, and escaped with a sum of money from the safe. They were headed north towards Saratoga in a small coupe.

Accordingly, the constable, who had just repaired the telephone line, and the deputy sheriff blocked the Saratoga bridge across the Platte river, and within thirty minutes caught the robbers, who had the money with them. When arraigned in court, they pleaded guilty and were sentenced to serve from four to nine years in the penitentiary. When captured, one of the men had in his possession a pair of cutting pliers bearing the dark stain incurred in severing the copper wire.
