POTATO GROWERS GET PROFIT FROM SPRAYS

East Lansing. — The proper spraying or dusting of potatoes to combat insects and diseases will increase the yields of U. S. No. 1 tubers enough to pay a good profit on the cost of time and materials used in protecting the crop according to the farm crops department of Michigan State College.

The basic spray used in Michigan potato fields is Bordeaux mixture which is made by combining copper sulphate, lime, and water.

TIMBER-GROWTH AIDED BY RUSHTON - COATES ACT

The Rushton - Coates Act, one of the final bills enacted by the State Legislature and signed by Governor Brucker, provides a special tax arrangements for timber growers.

The new act adds important amendments to the Commercial Forest Reserve Act of 1925. The owner of the cut-over timber lands is now encouraged to hold them for future forest growth through the fixing of a low annual land tax of ten cents per acre. When timber products mature an acre is cut, an additional "yield" or "severance" tax is paid.

Mutual benefits to grower and State ensue from this arrangement in that the grower of a crop which takes years to mature is enabled to pay a large share of his taxes when he has the money to do so, while on the other hand the land owner agrees to devote the favored lands to timber production only, and to permit the public to enter them for hunting and fishing.

"Dietitians recognize the importance of retaining all the natural values in foods. None of the natural elements should be lost in cooking. Only a SEALED OVEN retains ALL the delicious food values, and that is why electric cooking is so healthful!"

"In an ordinary oven, the intense dry heat dries out a roast. An electric oven prevents this. Its natural atmosphere conserves precious minerals and other natural food values. Its gentle, moist heat cooks meats and vegetables to melting tenderness in their own juices, without the addition of water! There is practically no shrinkage or loss of weight in roasts. All the delicious natural flavor is sealed-in and even cheaper cuts of meat cook tender. My Electrochef oven is practically self-basting, like a pressure cooker."

"I wish I had discovered this healthful cooking long ago. I wouldn't be without my Electrochef electric range!"
