BRIDGING SEAS LINKS WORLD'S TELEPHONE NETS

Transoceanic Telephone Circuits
Place Major Wire Networks
In Reach of One Another

Interconnection of widely separated wire telephone networks, by means of overseas radio telephone service, is serving to tie the world together, and the effect on future international relations may be far-reaching.

It was only four years ago, in 1927, that telephone service was first extended across the North Atlantic and a beginning made in the interconnection of the great telephone networks of North America and Europe. Since then, rapid progress has ensued in the extension of radio telephone service to interconnect wire telephone networks, until today the telephone spans a large portion of the globe.

At present there are five major groups of telephone systems connected by radio telephone service. First, there are the North American-European connections. These are the most important because of the economic and social interests between the two continents, and because they connect with the large telephone networks on both sides of the Atlantic. North America and Europe combined account for some 22,000,000 telephones out of a world total of about 35,000,000.

Second, there is the connection between North America and South America. The third group is between South America and Europe; and the fourth is from Europe to Asia and Oceania. The fifth, from North America to Pacific points and the Far East, is in the development and construction stage at present.

World-Wide Service in View
Most of the foregoing services are now given on a part-time basis, but that across the North Atlantic is a twenty-four hour service, while between North and South America the service is for a full business day. Some of the circuits between Europe and South America and the East Indies are not yet fully connected into the wire telephone network, while those in operation between South America and Europe, instead of connecting into the European network by means of a single station, are shared on a part-time basis by several stations in different European countries.

A world-wide telephone network, with its tremendous appeal to the imagination, is a problem which is now challenging the best efforts of communication engineers.

Holland Picturesque Land

Other lands have ancient palaces, lakes, rivers and mountains to offer, but Holland lies largely below the level of the sea and was rescued from its ancient and powerful enemy by its sturdy and heroic sons through the construction of great dikes. The green fields, or polders, are surrounded by canals, the picturesque windmills, the numberless spotted cattle, the farmers still wearing his wooden shoes rowing or pushing his boat gladden the eye and rest the nerves of thousands of tourists.

STATE TO GAIN $500,000 THROUGH CLOSER CHECKUP

Lansing, Mich., Nov. 23.—Approximately $500,000 will be added to the state's revenues in 1932 through closer supervision of the sale of truck license plates, Secretary of State Frank D. Fitzgerald estimates.

In past years, truck owners have been allowed to use any sort of weight slip in certifying to the weight of trucks when securing license plates. Starting with the 1932 plates, truck owners will be required to use official Department of State weight receipts. Without a department receipt, license plates will not be issued.

To Clean Oil Painting
An oil painting may be cleaned by taking it out of its frame, then using a piece of cloth moistened with rain water. Leave this cloth on the painting for a while to take up the dirt. Several applications may be required to secure a perfect result. Then wipe the picture very gently with a tuft of cotton damped with absolutely pure linseed oil. Valuable pictures of expert should be entrusted only to an expert.

Positive Proof of FORD ECONOMY

City of Detroit purchases 137 new Ford cars
Hundreds now in use prove low cost of operation

THESE 137 new Ford cars represent one of the largest deliveries ever made to a municipality at one time.

21 radio-equipped Ford scout cars were traded in on this purchase. They had been operated day and night for two years in heavy traffic and all kinds of weather.

Their individual records ranged from 78,434 miles to 143,723 miles with a grand total of 2,283,097 miles. The operating cost of the 21 cars was 2.284 cents a mile—less than 2 1/3 cents. This cost included all fuel, oil, tires, repairs and every other item except depreciation and insurance.

Of 577 Ford cars in Detroit City service, the 300 in the Police Department traveled a total of 6,591,937 miles during the past fiscal year, at an average cost of 2.9 cents a mile.

Many claims have been made on operating costs, but here in the carefully kept motor car records of the City of Detroit is positive proof of Ford economy.

In the paragraphs above, it is seen that 21 Ford scout cars averaged less than 2 1/3 cents a mile and 300 Ford cars in all branches of Detroit police work averaged 2.9 cents a mile!

Day and night, twenty-four hours a day, these Ford cars are in operation. Few branches of transportation demand such grueling service. The records show that low fuel and oil consumption is but one of the Ford's many economies. Ford materials, simplicity of design and accuracy in manufacturing provide unusual strength, stamina and freedom from replacements and repairs.

The individual car buyer as well as the purchasing department of a city or a business cannot afford to ignore the proved economy of the Ford car.
