Fill The Barrels

Green colored barrels, as you have noticed, have been placed in several grocery stores in Farmington for the collection of articles of food for the needy ones of this City and vicinity.

The distribution of the food collected in the barrels is to be supervised by responsible individuals who will distribute the food where it will do the greatest good.

There are many in this vicinity who are experiencing the pangs of hunger and the pains of cold through sheer poverty. If you, by adding only a few cents to your daily purchases, could alleviate a small part of this suffering, would you not feel at the close of the day that it had been a few pennies well spent?

Responses shown by Farmington people thus far have been most gratifying. A continuance of the fine spirit now being shown is certain to make itself felt in quarters where the needs for the necessities of life are most acute.

A can of corn, a few pounds of potatoes, a few cans of soup, anything that is not immediately perishable, will be an appreciated and helpful contribution to Farmington Welfare Relief.
